ROGERS RECKONS STATIC A BLESSING UNTIL AFTER NOV. 6

(Special To The News)

NEW YORK, Oct. 29. — Saturday all the papers headlined Al Smith saying, "There is something in the air. I don't know what it is, but there is something in the air."

I believe I can tell him what it is. It's at least two hundred thousand words of "applesause" delivered every night by speakers from both parties over the radio.

So that's all there is in the air. If every radio set went static from now till Nov. 6, it would be a godsend to a suffering public, and no loss to political knowledge.

Yours,
WILL ROGERS.

PA NEWC OBSERVES

New Castle's Community Chest drive will start on Tuesday and continue until Wednesday evening. Be ready for the campaigners. You are as much interested in the success of this whirlwind campaign as any of the campaigners. Do your share to help put the campaign over. The goal sought this year is $80,000.

At Oakland, Maryland, Mrs. Rachel Ashby, 74, is proud of the fact that there are 29 votes in her immediate family, and they are all for Hoover. Wonder which is the largest voting family in Lawrence county.

Connecting the new improved road at East Brook and the end of the old improved road, is a small bridge. Seems that this bridge was forgotten in the improvement program, for it's about as rough a stretch of road as one can find. It should be fixed at once.

There was ice again this morning, a thin coat being noted on some shallow pools about the city.

Wednesday night is Hallowe'en. This doesn't mean that tonight is to be celebrated. Save your Hallowe'en pranks until the scheduled night.

At Seaford, Del., George T. Phillips, a farmer, is proud of the fact that he grew 431 pounds of pumpkins on a single plant. There were 22 individual pumpkins on the vine, the smallest of which weighed 12½ pounds. Anybody got any claim to beat this record?

One week from tomorrow is election day. It is going to be the greatest election day of many years, and locally there will be a record vote cast. It behooves every voter to make arrangements to get to the polls early, so that he will not be deprived of the chance to vote. According to a decision in Philadelphia, Saturday, the polls in this state must be closed at 7 p. m.

It must have been cold this morning. (Foolish statement No. 6667890.) Pa Newc saw about a half dozen motorists who were experiencing difficulties in getting their autos to gurgle. One poor bourgeousie got his on a slight grade, pushed her off and it was only then that he succeeded in getting the motor to cough.

Many old grads from the little college in the ninth ward received a turbulent tremor in their bosoms Saturday evening when the old college bell was run for the first victory since its recasting and placement in the new memorial building at Westminster. The old bell, toller of victories for 75 years, was silent for two years due to the fire which swept the college in January, 1926. It was recast and placed in the new tower but Saturday was the first victory since the rejuvenation.

Football fans throughout the entire section are carrying extra hankies and speaking of "codes" and other puerile gurglings today. Rain, wind and general inclemency Saturday gave about 30,000 more or less football fans a perfectly good case of colds and stiff joints as it rained generally thruout the district all afternoon. Pa Newc knows from experience as he swam through one of the games.

Drivers report that Saturday night was the worst driving night that has occurred this year. One driver made

Building Code Measure Passed By City Council

Measure Is Approved By 3-2 Vote At Session This Morning

HAS BEEN PENDING FOR MANY MONTHS

May Not Become Effective Until Building Inspector Has Been Named

Council today met in formal session at city hall and by a three to two vote passed the building code ordinance. The measure however may not become effective until council names a building inspector which probably will be in 1929.

The measure was called for third and final reading by Councilman Reeves. The motion was seconded by Tyler. Davies, Reeves and Tyler voted for the measure. Mayor Gillespie and Councilman Burns voted against the bill.

Introduced Months Ago.

The voluminous code was prepared by local craftsmen together with experts at a cost of approximately $600 and when the data had been whipped into ordinance form the measure was introduced May 26, 1927, by Mr. Davies. It was to have become effective April 1, 1928.

The bill was sent to committee, talked over several times, read partially, reported out of committee, printed, and until today has been dust covered. When councilmen convened today Councilman Reeves offered a motion that the measure be called up for final vote.

"My recollection is that the ordinance has been read" remarked Tyler.

"Burns said it was read so far as council believed necessary," replied President Gillespie.

He added that at one meeting a vote was taken partially and the measure was withdrawn with consent of other members.

Davies explained that all members were not present and it was deemed necessary and advisable to have all colons present.

Need Building Code.

"It is necessary the city have a building code" Davies stated.

"There is no one here who does not agree the city should have a code" replied Tyler.

"It cost $600 to get it prepared. It will not cost anything to pass the measure but it will to enforce it" he declared.

He added that should the city not

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—The Republican drive to put Herbert Hoover in the White House entered its final week today with high party leaders launching a climactic effort to keep organized labor and the independent agricultural vote in the Republican column.

Hoover, as the standard-bearer, will direct his efforts this week to winning the border states and to keeping the Republican mountain states safely in the fold. Hoover will leave here Thursday to speed westward through Maryland, West Virginia, Indiana, Kentucky, Illinois and Missouri. He will make a rear platform appearance in Cumberland, Md., late that day, others in Lounsville, Ky.; Mt. Vernon, Washington and Vincennes, Ind., and Salem, Ill., Friday and a prepared address in St. Louis Friday night.

The nominee then will cross Kansas into Colorado, with many stops en route and a lengthy one at Pueblo after which he will continue through Utah and Nevada to his home in Palo Alto, Calif., to vote in Tuesday's election. His schedule, incidentally, will permit him to make brief stops in Salt Lake City and Ogden, Utah. On the

FIND YOUNG STOWAWAY ABOARD GRAF ZEPPELIN

(Copyright, 1928, by International News Service. Reproduction in whole or part expressly prohibited.)

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—The first stowaway in history was found today upon the Graf Zeppelin, a few hours after it had begun its return trans-Atlantic flight from Lakehurst, N. J. to Friedrichshafen, Germany, according to word received here at noon today by International News Service.

He is Clarence Terhune, aged 19, of St. Louis, who had been working as a caddy at the Rye, N. Y., country club.

Capt. Lehmann of the Graf put the youth to work washing dishes in the galley.

Terhune, whose life ambition was to make the flight went to Lakehurst and boarded the ship through the mail hatch at eight o'clock last night. In the bustle of preparation for the departure and leave-taking Terhune was completely overlooked.

The young stowaway was discovered at eight o'clock sitting on a mail bag. He told the ship's captain that he had been making plans for his "trip" for three months.

The Zeppelin passed the steamship Division, inbound, and a big unidentified outbound Cunarder shortly before 10:30 a. m. At that time the air liner was making 70 miles an hour with a stiff wind. She was approximately 110 miles southeast of Cape Sable.

SIX PERSONS KILLED AS TRAIN HITS AUTO

(International News Service)

JOHNSTOWN, Pa., Oct. 29. — Six persons, five of them members of one family, were killed when their automobile was demolished by a Pennsylvania railroad passenger train at Seward, near the Cambria Westmoreland county line early today. Five of the victims were killed outright and the sixth died a short time after being admitted to the Memorial hospital here.

The dead are George Zahorchok, his wife, Anna; their two minor children and Mrs. Zahorchok's mother, Mrs. Andrews Homals. Joseph Tachk, driver of the machine was still living when picked up by a passing motorist who rushed him on to Johnstown. He had suffered fractures of both legs and arms; a fractured skull and internal injuries.

The train which struck the automobile was east bound from Pittsburgh, leaving that city at 11:10 last night. The accident occurred at 12:40 a. m. today.

Chest Campaign Starts Tuesday

Intensive Drive For Subscriptions Will Begin With Breakfast

WORKERS TO MEET NOON AND EVENING

Tuesday morning at 7:56, the kick off breakfast of the Community Chest drive for 1928-29 will take place in the east dining room of The Cathedral. While this plan, which will start an intensive two day drive for funds in New Castle, is an innovation in the city, indications are that nearly 100 per cent of the workers will be in attendance at the breakfast.

Organization presidents, division leaders, team captains and workers are co-operating loyally to get out every chest worker that this drive may get under way and continue until every prospect has been seen.

To Start Work

Immediately after the breakfast the workers will start for their territories and do the soliciting for the chest. A report luncheon will take place at 12:15 at the same place, and after lunch, and a further injection of pep will be given to the workers. In the afternoon they will again canvass their territories, and at 6:15, they will meet in the east dining room of The Cathedral for a report dinner. The same programme will be followed Wednesday. A victory dinner will close the campaign Wednesday evening.

Two full days will be spent in the different territories by the team workers, and it is expected that this is enough time so that the streets can be thoroughly canvassed. With advance gifts amounting to $31,000 already reported, the workers will have to solicit $49,000 to reach the goal of $80,000 for the Chest. The NAVAL AIR STATION, LAKEHURST, N. J., Oct. 29. —Like some fantastic creature of a fairyland, the dirigible Graf Zeppelin soared into a starlit sky and hanging full moon early today on the start of her return voyage to Friedrichshafen, Germany, with 63 men and women on board. She left the ground with a roar of her five mighty engines at precisely 1:54:30 a. m.

Cheers burst from the throats of a little band of several hundred thrilled spectators as gradually the lights of the great air liner disappeared from view in the night. They had witnessed a spectacle that held them breathless and thrilled beyond expression.

They had seen every detail of the dramatic departure. The farewell kisses. The tuning up of the motors in the hangar. The removal of the ship from the hangar. The calm concern of the crew. The bravery of the passengers. And they had joined in the crisis of "Auf Widersehen".

Start Motors

It was exactly 12:30 a. m. when the motors of the zeppelin began to hum in the hangar, signalling that the departure was imminent.

One by one the passengers mounted the wooden platform that had been built alongside the cabin of the ship. Among the first to enter was Mrs. Clara Adams, of Tannersville, Pa., the lone woman passenger.

"I'm thrilled beyond words," she exclaimed as she waved good-bye to a woman friend in the crowd.

She is a tall, slender woman, the wife of George L. Adams, a retired cannery magnate, and a close friend of Commander Hugo Eckener.

She wore a brown ensemble suit, a velour coat with fox collar and a wine-colored hat trimmed with os-

Snow Flurry

Children's hearts were made happy today when the first flurry of snow, at least as far as New Castle is concerned, fell. At 12:30 p. m. "Mother Goose" shook her pillows in the air and the little "feathers" flooded down only to melt as soon as the ground was struck.

Arthur Mometer

There's a thrill when the back breaks away for a run, or a forearm is thrown for a gain, or the tall back plunges through center or guard for a much needed game winning game. But who I ask are the lads who stop they opponents from making the yards. It isn't the back or the ends my friends, its the center, the tackle and guard. There is little glory in what they do, they are always under the heap, and though legs are aching and arms are sore they never are heard to cheer. Its a rough tough business the lineman has, heavy and busy and hard, though its forty-three yet I ask a cheer for the center, the tackle and guard.

Publisher's Home Bombed

Mansfield Publisher's Home Partially Wrecked By Time Bomb

(International News Service)

MANSFIELD, O., Oct. 29.—Police today sought to find the perpetrator of the bomb outrage which occurred here tday when the suburban home of R. C. Hoiles, Mansfield publisher, was partially wrecked by an infernal machine thrown onto the front porch of the Hoiles' home or ignited by a time fuse.

No one was injured, although the front porch was torn away and the interior of the home badly damaged.

Hoiles, his wife, their two small children and a maid were asleep in the house when they were suddenly awakened by the detonation of the bomb.

Police were unable to ascribe a motive for the bombing. The publisher had no known enemies.

A dearth of clues confronted investigators, their only definite lead being a report by a neighbor of the Hoiles that she had seen an automobile driving away from the vicinity of the house at about the time the blast let go.

Besides the Mansfield News, Hoiles is publisher of the Lorain Times-Herald and the Bucyrus Telegraph-Forum.

May Claim Insanity

The Harsh family retained Reuben Arnold and his firm, while Gallogly's family engaged James A. Branch, William S. Howard and Ben J. Conyers. All four are veteran Atlanta criminal lawyers.

Intimation that insanity would be the defense of young Harsh, who police said, confessed to the crimes shortly after his arrest Saturday night and implicated Gallogly as an accomplice, came from Attorney Howard.

"Harsh is undoubtedly abnormal," Howard said.

Meanwhile, Gallogly, the grandson of Col. James R. Gray, editor and soldier, clung steadfastly to his declaration of innocence through hours of rapid fire questioning by detectives.

Are Deadly Enemies

(International News Service)

ATLANTA, Ga., Oct. 29.—George Harsh, self confessed "thrill" murderer, and Richard Gallogly, his alleged accomplice, are deadly enemies—in jail.

When Gallogly was taken to police headquarters after a long grilling at the solicitor's office, he feared that officers were going to place him in the same cell with his fellow student at Oglethorpe University.

"Say, don't put me in there with that Harsh," Gallogly begged.

"You needn't worry," retorted the officer. "You have seen your 'buddy' for the last time in many, many days."

The youth appeared immensely pleased when informed he wouldn't have his erstwhile friend as a cellmate.

Chief of Detectives A. Lamar Poole declared Gallogly was very bitter against his former friend.

HOOVER-CURTIS WILL CARRY PENNSYLVANIA BY GREAT MAJORITY

prediction of a 1,000,000 majority for the Hoover-Curtis ticket. In that prediction he has been joined by the other leaders of the party.

Heavy Registration.

Final compilation of the registration totals for the state has helped to gladden the hearts of the Republicans. They feel that based on those figures they can afford to lose almost 1,000,000 votes and still have another 1,000,000 safely tucked away for a Hoover majority.

Republican leaders are accepting the fact that a lot of the hard workers at the polls may be influenced by the personal popularity of the Democratic standard bearer. It is easier for ward leaders to keep track of "how their register" but it is not quite so simple to tell afterward how each one voted.

Tariff Real Issue.

The Republicans are entering the week proclaiming emphatically that the tariff is the real issue in the national fight. Ever since the depression that swept Pennsylvania industries during the Cleveland administrations, tariff has been a subject close to the hearts of the men who operate the great industries of the state.

The necessity of a high protective tariff has been hammered into Pennsylvania industrial workers unremittingly. They have gone to the polls in each election since the Civil war and given the party that stood for a high tariff a correspondingly high majority.

No "Mud Slinging."

So far the campaign in Pennsylvania has been fairly free from practices which neither party will permit if they can prevent it. There has been a "whispering campaign" about both candidates in Pennsylvania as well as in other states but in neither case did it assume proportions where it was considered seriously. Both sides have saved their best ammunition for the present week but so far as can be learned neither will use the mustard gas variety.

The Republicans, so far as the national ticket is concerned, will continue to hold up past Democratic administrations as things of horror from the viewpoint of industrial Pennsylvania. They will continue to beat down charges of Republican corruption with the detailed information on the operation of the Tammany tiger. They will continue to "stand on our record". And most of all they will attempt to keep intact and untarnished the halo of renown and respect accorded in most quarters to Herbert Hoover at the close of that bigger campagin ten years ago, November 11.

Hoover Protects the Children.

Infant mortality and childhood diseases have long been accepted as inevitable. When it is a question of saving the children Hoover does not admit the inevitable. In 1921 Hoover founded the American Child Health association. On addressing this association five years later he said: "Our ideal is not only a child free from disease it is also a child made free to develop to the utmost his capacity for physical, social and mental health. Our work is racial defence. If we want this civilization to march forward toward higher economic standards to mortal and spiritual ideals it will march only on the feet of healthy children."

Smith spent the week-end at Raskob's home near here, and for the first time in many hard traveling weeks he had an opportunity to make a detailed survey of the national situation with his campaign director. He said everything "looked all right".

Four Speeches.

The final week is to a be strenuous one for the Democratic candidate. He will deliver four speeches, more than he has yet attempted in a similar period. They will cover three states—Maryland, New Jersey and New York—three states that are highly important to the Smith cause if, indeed, they are not vital. New York is vital anyway for no political authority can conceive of a Democratic victory one week from tomorrow should Governor Smith lose his own state's 45 electoral votes.

Today Governor Smith invades Maryland, a keen battleground as always in national campaigns. Although usually Democratic in state elections, Maryland has a habit of annoying the Democrats by giving her eight electoral votes to the Republicans in national elections.

FINAL DRIVE TO ELECT HOOVER IS OPENED BY G. O. P.

last lap he will make several stops in California.

Advisers Return

Hoover meanwhile found his board of advisors increased by the return here of Thomas Gregory, San Francisco capitalist, and George Barr Baker, New York journalist. Both will accompany him to the coast. Gregory and Baker have been Hoover's personal friends for many years and the nominee probably will rely upon their advice in the closing hours of the campaign.

The drive for farm votes was made by the Republican national committee in a statement detailing how the Republican administration had built federal roads in the last eight years. The committee pointed out that the rural vote would be much larger this year than in other Presidential campaigns, due to the good roads.

The committee declared the Harding-Coolidge administrations had spent $750,000,000 on good roads since 1920, while prior to that year the government had spent but $23,-500,000. The miles of federal roads, it added, was increased from 387,769 to 600,000 miles in the same period.

Raskob Assailed

Governor Henry J. Allen, Republican publicity director, meanwhile fired a broadside at John J. Raskob, Democratic national chairman, charging the Democrats with launching a campaign of "mud, slander, misrepresentation and fabrication". He cited a statement issued by the St. Louis branch of the Democratic national committee, "attacking Mr. Hoover's religious faith". The circular declared no Quaker boy ever went to war, and Allen cited the fact that two "Quaker colleges alone supplied over 250 Quaker commissioned officers to the American army in the recent war." Allen also praised Hoover's service as a member of the war council.

Secretary of Labor James J. Davis led the drive for a labor votes. He denied Democratic charges that Hoover opposed organized labor at a congressional hearing in 1920. Davis said he had read the record of the hearings and found Hoover's testimony "puts him on record as having every sympathy with organized labor and with the principle of collective bargaining."

The nominee, amid all this political fireworks, kept to his headquarters. He expected to complete his St. Louis speech by tomorrow, after which his only activity will be to confer with party leaders until he leaves for the West.

Arrest Two Auto Drivers On Charges

Both Are Accused By Police With Being Intoxicated; Held For Alderman

Among the numerous persons arrested by the police over the week-end were two persons, who have been charged with operating motor vehicles while under the influence of liquor.

Martin Dunn and two lady friends were arrested about five o'clock Sunday morning on the public square. Dunn and the girls had some trouble, according to the police and the result was that the police got in on the case. Dunn was found to be under the influence of liquor, the police report states and he was today charged with driving a motor vehicle while under the influence of liquor before Alderman Walter T. Hamilton by Chief of Police C. C. Horner. He gave bail for his appearance at a hearing. One of the girls paid a fine and the other was discharged.

Matthew Kalajanen was arrested last night after he had hit the car of A. Pintalbona, 306 East Lutton street and other machines and kept on going, being finally captured by the owners of one of the machines hit and held until the police were secured. Officers Criswell and McKee made the arrest. He was found to be under the influence of liquor and was today taken before Alderman O. H. P. Green, where he gave bail for a hearing. The charge against him was made by Chief of Police C. C. Horner.

Other Arrests.

Following an accident at 631 Ray street Saturday night, Officers Criswell and McKee arrested David W. Edminston, who owned the car that crashed into another machine. This morning, Edminston was fined $50 on a disorderly conduct charge by Mayor William H. Gillespie.

Mrs. Bertha Zarych was arrested Sunday by Detective John Young and Officer Thomas Lynch on Mahoning avenue, when they found half a gallon of moonshine in her possession. She was taken before Alderman J. Lee Cooper today, where Chief of Police C. C. Horner made a charge of violating the Snyder Act against her. She will be given a hearing later.

Another good way to see America first is to be one of a famous eleven.

Forty-One Are Tagged By Police On Saturday Night For This Parking Violation

Police authorities of the city are making a determined effort to break up the practice of blocking traffic in the alleys of the downtown district on Saturday evenings by motorists.

For the past two Saturday nights cars found parked in the alleys have been tagged and on last Saturday night the number tagged reached a total of 41.

The customary fine of $1 is being assessed in each instance and it is hoped that this will be sufficient warning to all motorists who desire to save that amount of money so that they will seek some other place on which to park.

FOR VICE PRESIDENT
CHARLES CURTIS, of Kansas

THE TARIFF AND IMMIGRATION—TWIN POLICIES

SECRETARY OF LABOR DAVIS in a campaign speech in Paterson, New Jersey, devoted all of his time to a discussion of the Republican protective tariff and our restrictive immigration laws. He rightly said that one was the complement of the other. A wavering or a let-down on either might easily have disastrous consequences for the country.

"Since my first vote," said Mr. Davis, "I have been for a real, genuine, protective tariff. At that time I was a worker in a steel mill, and I know what it means. It meant my pay envelope then, and it means today the pay envelope of the American worker and the dividend check of the American investor."

He warned his hearers against fooling with a law that has meant so much for the country. He declared that if the Democratic party began making investigations and installing its own kind of tariff commissions the mere fact of so doing would be sure to have an adverse effect upon business. The conclusion of his talk put two great economic truths in a nutshell:

"The restrictive immigration law is the twin sister of the protective tariff law. One keeps out the low-priced goods—the other keeps out a flood of people willing to come here and work for low wages. Both laws keep the American worker safe in his job."

THE YEARNING FOR EDUCATION

SURPRISE was caused this fall by the rush to the colleges; at all of the large institutions there were more applicants for admission than could be accommodated. Scarcely less surprising is the revelation made in a recently taken census, of the number of persons who are taking college courses by correspondence.

Thirteen universities report that they are giving instruction by mail to a total of more than 40,000 men and women. These correspondent students are for the most part older than those who attend college, and they are drawn from all walks of life and from abroad as well as from every corner of the United States. The University of Chicago reports that it has enrolled in its correspondence department one student living above the Arctic Circle in Alaska and another in a remote part of China.

The courses cover a wide range of subjects. Business courses are most popular with the correspondence pupils of the University of Wisconsin. At the University of Kansas foreign languages are most in demand; at the University of Kentucky practical mining, at the University of Oklahoma education, and at the universities of Chicago, Indiana and Texas, English.

This yearning for education it is safe to assume, is prompted by recognition of the fact that learning makes for success in business. The correspondence students are taking courses of which they can make practical use. If they are employed in factories or mines they want to know the science that is back of their jobs. If they work in offices they seek acquaintance with the underlying principles of their business. These students will be the self-made men and women of a few years from now. Denied, probably, the opportunity to attend college and take the courses leading to a degree, they are making the most of such chances for obtaining an education as are available. This shows grit, and grit is one of the important factors that enter into success.

"STATE SOCIALISM"

STUDENTS of political science as it is practiced in the United States have watched with misgivings the slow but steady growth of a socialistic state of mind in congress and the state legislatures. True to their propnecies, it figured in the presidential election of four years ago, and in this campaign the nation has seen Herbert Hoover define the evil and point it out by name.

"State socialism" is a dangerous enemy at the doors of America. It destroys leadership. It tends to cripple the mental energies of the people. It diminishes or extinguishes the opportunities before aspiring youth. It levels everything to a dull routine and penalizes instead of stimulating progress and individualism.

The functions of the government at Washington should be reduced to a minimum. All government meddling is bad, and nearly all government undertakings are wretchedly managed. The great need of the nation is a decentralized government—local control or local affairs being left untouched whereever possible. All needless and futile federal commissions and bureaus should be abolished. The government should keep its nose out of private affairs.

What has made the glory and greatness of this nation is individual initiative, personal enterprise, daring combinations of inventive genius and far-sighted planning. Whenever the hand of the government is laid upon business of any kind, it is found to be a dead hand. A hateful bureaucracy is established which halts progress.

Herbert Hoover did well in bringing this important issue to the fore. The people should be given an opportunity to express themselves on a question which so closely concerns the future of their country.

State Socialism.
Wise General Electric.
"Come, See Me Die."
Tamerlane's Skulls.

By ARTHUR G. BRISBANE
(Copyright, 1928, by N. Y. American, Inc.)

Otto H. Kahn says truly, "An amusing incident in politics is the complete misunderstanding of Herbert Hoover's statement that the Democratic program is a program of 'government socialism'."

Democrats accuse Hoover of calling Gov. Smith a Socialist. And Gov. Smith repels the accusation eloquently.

"As a matter of fact, Mr. Hoover made no reference to Socialism, as ordinarily understood. He referred in plain words to 'state socialism' established by Bismarck to combat real socialism.

"Mr. Hoover compared the Democratic program of paternalism to the 'state socialism'. That puts unemployed men on the 'dole' in England, and that Bismarck devised to fight real socialism."

Nevertheless, a large percentage of Democrats will always believe that Hoover called Smith a Socialist. It is not sufficient to use terms correctly, you must foresee how others will interpret them.

Mr. Swope and his General Electric Company apparently made a better deal with Russia recently than was supposed. Russia bought $25,000,000 worth of electrical equipment from the General Electric, and Russia arranged with the General Electric to include a sum sufficient to make up for General Electric properties confiscated by Bolshevism.

Berlin says it is a convenient way to settle the General Electric claims without "establishing a precedent."

Swope probably doesn't care how it is done.

In Huntsville, Tex., "Bo" Silver invited his friends to see him "sit down in the chair."

At the last minute Gov. Moody commuted his sentence to life imprisonment.

"Bo" remarked, "My friends sure missed a wonderful party."

Men sentenced to death frequetly issue invitations for their last appearance. Carlisle Harris, a young medical student who murdered his wife, requested a newspaper acquaintance to see him die and tell his mother all about it.

When Tamerlane ruled in Asia, he had a habit, after taking a city, of cutting off heads of soldiers and other inhabitants and building them into pyramids. When thew dried into skulls, he had them lighted up from the inside as a warning to his enemies.

Bootleg whisky builds its pyramids of coffins, not skulls. In New York yesterday 18 miserable victims of bootleg poison whisky, each in a pine box, were piled up on the deck of the Municipal ferryboat Colonel Clayton, bound for the Potter's Field. There they rest, a warning that will not be heeded.

From the Atlantic to the Pacific the airplane. "Yankee Doodle" flew in 24 hours, 51 minutes. If a light airplane can do that now, at the beginning of aviation, how long will it take fully developed planes to cross this continent? Those living will cross in six hours and less. Railroads operating trans-continental passenger lines take notice.

In the past three months General Motors has earned $79,266,639. In nine months that gigantic company has earned $240,534,613, more in nine months than in any 12 months previous.

Some time ago, before General Motors made its gigantic stock distribution, a speculator sitting in a broker's office on the third floor of New York's Ritz Tower, was heard to say repeatedly, "Sell a thousand General Motors at 125."

This writer said then to the owner of the Ritz Tower broker's office: "That customer of yours will pay a nice profit to somebody when he buys that stock back."

Don't gamble and don't sell short.

A German convict, Edgar Heidge, showed extraordinary powers of endurance and desperate courage before being shot to death in a room where he had taken refuge.

He continued doggedly fighting policemen. Protected by steel shields, until he sank to the floor, a dozen bullets in his body. He wrote to his mother, "Goodby, I shall see you in heaven, for, although I am a murderer, I am not bad."

Charles M. Schwab, who was born cheerful and has never changed, tells the American Iron and Steel Institute, "America's prosperity will go to a height far above anything yet experienced."

That is putting it mildly. The greatest American cities will see land sell for $1,000 a square foot and be cheap at the price. Some low-priced stock now within reach of small buyers wil go to $500 a share and higher. Also some high-priced stock will go lower. So don't gamble.

Hints and Dints

Sun sets tonight 5:00. Sun rises tomorrow 6:27.

It is safe to predict cold and disagreeable weather this time of the year, so we do it.

We have read of quite a few cases where people have been found shot by hunters but the hunters could not be found. Another case of shoot and run.

Mr. Wilson, Democrat known to many in this city, and who is trying to get Mr. Vares seat in the United States senate is stumping for Gov. Smith. Even Mr. Vare is not for Smith wet as he is reported to be. Wilson sure has a crust to ask any one to be for him after this.

Example of useless suffering: Host and guest yawning, each afraid it isn't good manners to suggest going to bed.

All the alleged Republicans in the senate and congress are for Gov. Smith for president. We never did think very much of those agitators when they declared they were Republicans. Being an honest Republican means a lot in the long run.

An English inventor has produced a metal that will stay in the air without any support from above or below. Houses can be built in the air and airships cannot come down when built with this metal. When airships cannot come down they are going to be mighty popular.

THE WICKED FLEE.

Whenever Hints and Dints man condemns wrong-doing, whether wife-beating or lying, mayhem or drunkenness, some individual writes in to say the paper has no right to expose him and make its criticism so personal. And as a rule the writer of the complaint is one whose sin is known only to himself.

The News is written for many people scattered all the way from New Castle to China and it doesn't bother its pretty head with the faults of individuals.

If it scolds thieves, it means all thieves—not just you. Don't be so conceited. You're not the only sinner in the world.

That Pittsburgh lady who got in bad by grabbing hold of a lawyer's hair and giving it a couple of strenuous yanks while he was cross-examining her escaped jail by apologizing to the court and the lawyer. She was a smart lady at that. She got the humiliation over on the lawyer all right.

It is just as well to forget your troubles because there are a lot more of them coming.

Have you noticed how quickly those fivers who are lost while flying over the ocean are forgotten. Well how many of the names do you remember right now?

Then applies the paint
You see—the big idea is
To look like what she ain't.

A noiseless airplane has been invented in Germany. No doubt before long an airplane will be able to sneak right up behind one and bump 'em off. Heretofore we could always tell when they were around by the noise. There are worse things than some kinds of noises.

President Coolidge has displayed a mighty lot of good sense by not going on the stump for Hoover. Everybody knows who he is for and that alone is sufficient.

The great demonstration given to Gov. Smith in Boston last week was not so much. When W. J. Bryan visited that same district in Boston when he was a candidate the mob tore down several buildings and Bryan was not able to say one word. Hoover would probably have gotten even more attention in Boston.

A lady in Illinois knows for sure now that walking under a ladder is bad luck. One fell on her while she was walking under it.

A big football game is to be played in this city on next Saturday. The high school band will be there to furnish the music. A part of the proceeds of that game is to go to help buy new uniforms for the band. This band is always ready to furnish fine music for every civic event. The members of the band get nothing for their services and pay their own expenses. The bigger the crowd at the game next Saturday the more money for the band. Do your part.

Riley: "'Tis a shame indeed to have so many women murderin' their meal tickets lately."

Kelly: "It is that. Believe me, they wouldn't be gettin' away wit' it for a minute if they had their husbands sittin' in the jury box."

Only he who merits a favor knows how to appreciate one.

Doug Fairbanks and Mary Pickford called at the White House and had lunch with President and Mrs. Coolidge one day last week. Doug and Mary are about as well known as Cal and Grace.

One more week of silence before the presidential election. We mean in New Castle.

LEARN TO FORGET.

The world contains just two kinds of people—those you like and those you are not interested in. Never do anybody the honor of hating him.

When you find a man unworthy of respect and friendship, do not quarrel with him; neither keep him in mind and say evil things about him. Simply dismiss him from your thought keep away from him and eventually forget that he exists.

It is a habit you can cultivate and it makes the world almost as pleasant as though all unworthy people were dead.

Unless human nature has changed, Eve soon convinced herself she was blameless because the snake took advantage of her sex.

You aren't a "bad influence." Some knave who is determined to be crooked just uses you as an alibi.

The old tradition concerning Scotch canniness when there's a penny in sight receives a new boost by the following story: A sportsman who had been shooting on a Highland moor became lost in a sudden mist. He tramped about hopefully until the light failed and at last, when he was beginning to become really anxious, he heard the sound of footsteps near at hand. The sportsman shouted: "Hallo! Hallo, there! I'm lost!"

For answer came a cautious voice out of the gloom: "Ay * * * but is there any reward for findin' ye?"

The World AND THE Mud Puddles

WHAT IS THIS GOLF

Golf is a form of work made expensive enough for a man to enjoy it. It is physical and mental exertion made attractive by the fact that you have to dress for it in a $200,000 clubhouse.

Golf is what letter carrying, ditch digging and carpet beating would be if those three tasks had to be performed on the same hot afternoon by gouty-looking gentlemen who required a different implement for every mood.

Golf is the simplest looking game in the world when you decide to take it up and the toughest looking after you have been at it ten or twelve years.

It is probably the only known game a man can play as long as a quarter of a century and then discover that it was too deep for him in the first place.

The game is played on carefully selected grass with little white balls and as many clubs as the players can afford. These balls cost much money and it is possible to support a family of ten (all adults) for five months on the money represented by the balls lost by some golfers in a single afternoon.

A golf course has eighteen holes, seventeen of which are unnecessary and put in to make the game harder. A "hole" is a tin cup in the center of a "green." A "green" is a small parcel of grass costing about $1.93 a blade and usually located between a brook and a couple of apple trees or a lot of "unfinished excavations."

The idea is to get the golf ball from a given point into each of the eighteen cups in the fewest strokes and the greatest number of words.

The ball must not be thrown, pushed or carried. It must be propelled by about $200 worth of curious looking implements, especially designed to provoke the owner.

Each implement has a specific purpose and ultimately some golfers get to know what that purpose is. They are the exceptions.

After each hole has been completed the golfer counts his strokes. Then he subtracts six and says, "Made that in five. That's one above par. Shall we play for fifty cents on the next hole, Ed?"

After the final or eighteenth hole, the golfer adds up his score and stops when he has reached eighty-seven. He then has a swim, sings "Sweet Adeline" with six or eight other golfers and calls it the end of a perfect day.

Textile Strike Settlement Lesson In Wasteful Methods

Both Sides Suffered Disastrously In Long, Drawn-Out Controversy Which Might Have Been Adjusted Quickly With Proper Machinery

Settlement of the New Bedford textile strike after a long, drawn-out struggle, disastrous to all concerned, is made the occasion for pointed comment on the folly of ineffective and wasteful methods of adjusting such controversies.

"It is impossible at this time to estimate the total cost of this strike or to predict the length of time it will take to recover from it," says the SPRINGFIELD UNION. "Practically all of it represents a total economic loss and the strike has turned out to be merely one more illustration of the futility and waste of this method of settling industrial disputes. With a different spirit in evidence on both sides in the beginning the huge cost and the widespread suffering and injury caused by the strike could have been avoided. The settlement now agreed upon or one equally satisfactory could just as readily have been reached apparently without one day's cessation of work."

The ASHEVILLE TIMES reasons that "such an industrial war is no more defensible than armed conflict to settle international disputes that could be settled around a conference table" and continues: "If nations could be forced to pay in advance the cost of war it would be one of the most powerful guarantees of peace. If the employers and employes of the New Bedford textile mills could have foreseen the course of their conflict over wages, they would unquestionably have compromised last April rather than now."

In its discussion of the cause of the trouble, the CHICAGO DAILY NEWS explains that "the strike was a protest against a 10 per cent reduction in wages, but the workers also resented the failure of the employers to give them notice of the intended action." Although forced to accept a compromise on the wage question the strikers won a clear cut victory in their grievance against lack of proper notification of the proposed reduction, as The News explains: "What finally led the seven unions represented in the council to vote in favor of a return to work under the reduced wage scale was an additional concession of the manufacturers who promised to give 30 days' notice of any future contemplated change in their employes' pay." The strike could have been prevented, the Chicago paper contends, by "more effective arbitration and mediation machinery."

Observing that "one would not easily find an example of a strike that so completely failed to pay any one concerned," the BROOKLYN DAILY EAGLE is interested in the fact that "the strike has shown how well the country could get along for cotton goods during almost half a year without the service of nearly 30,000 workers in New Bedford mills," and pictures the entire industry of the city as having to address itself "to the difficult task of recapturing a market that has temporarily gone elsewhere. It will require the workers and the owners to do their utmost to come back," predicts this paper, as it advises both sides in the strike that "they have so strong an interest in common that they may well dismiss antagonism and work together."

The "half year of idleness" of the textile mills around New Bedford, Mass., has been a costly and burdensome experience for mill owners and employes, says the COLUMBUS OHIO STATE JOURNAL. "Conditions in the textile fields have not been good. Massachusetts mills have been forced to meet the most vigorous competition from the mills in southern states where wages helped lower the cost of production." But even in the face of this depression in business, adds The Ohio State Journal, "due consideration of the facts was not given, conferences were not held, information was not provided, there was an absence of a frank exchange of views" and hence the damaging strike.

Contending that "the worker is not a piece of machinery any more than the employer is a piece of machinery," but that "he is a vital part of the industry and the success of the industry depends not only upon his technical skill but on his good will and his eagerness to advance the industry," the HAVERHILL EVENING GAZETTE declares its belief that "nine workers out of ten are willing to adjust themselves to the needs of the industry because they know that their own welfare depends on the vigor of the industry. They must, however, be convinced that the adjustment is necessary," this paper concludes as it advocates "mutual open mindedness, mutual willingness to understand each other's desires" for both employer and employe.

Giving the strike a bearing on politics in its expression of opinion the MIAMI DAILY NEWS asks: "If, as Mr. Hoover says, the issue in this political campaign is prosperity, how would he expect the Bedford textile workers, with their wage cut, to vote? And the farmers, their 'wages' cut this year by a reduction of upwards of 35 per cent in the price of corn and wheat."

Dr. Crane's Editorial

ATTRACTION OF THE OLD

Laying aside all sex appeal and things of that sort many people believe that old persons are more interesting than young ones.

There comes a time in a man's life when a woman of forty is more interesting than one of eighteen. Beside the mature woman a girl is rather crude.

People who go to Europe love to poke around among the antiquities. There is a sort of sentimental interest in anything that is old. Many people despise America because it is too new.

There is no doubt that the old has a certain sentimental value. H. G. Wells says that when every house is heated by electricty millionaires will have smoke coming out of their chimneys to give them an antique appearance—artificial smoke.

At Hampton Court in England is a grapevine which brings the government more than six thousand dollars a year.

Only a little of the money is derived from the grapes it bears. Most of it comes from admission paid to see the vine because it is almost 160 years old.

There is only one thing that interests man more than the new.

It is the old.

Anything that endures—whether it be a bit of canvas, a scrap of ancient oriental tapestry, an Etrurscan wine jar, a bit of Mayan inscription on a volcanic rock from the forests of Guatemala, a printed page, or a lofty sequoia redwood—interests and fascinates man.

The fact that it has existed from the time his unknown ancestors lived, and will continue to resist the ravages of time long after he is dead has something to do with his interest.

Mortal man looking at something which contains a touch of immortality is awed and fascinated.

A human being who has outlived the rest of his contemporaries is always of interest. In the same way an inanimate thing that has endured beyond the lifetime of all other similar things of its own era attracts our attention and wonder.

We travel far to see a giant tree that was more than a sapling before Caesar massed his troops on the Rubicon, or to gaze upon the very ornament that adorned a King's favorite while Moses was leading the Children of Israel to their Promised Land.

Nothing new, however sensational, can hold a man's interest generation after generation as something old is able to do.

Time works for the old.

The automobile, the airplane, the radio, seven-day wonders. Then they become commonplace things of the present, neither new nor very old.

But time increases its attraction for the old. Each year it becomes older and thereby more remarkable.

The same years that tarnish the interest of the once new enhance continually the interest in these objects which attract by virtue of their ancientness.

HOPE

Lord, as we grope through life enduring pain
And doubt and disappointment and the stress
Which must be met to build the thing success,
Teach us to see that nothing here is vain.
That sometimes loss foreruns the richer gain,
And injury may come in fortune's dress.
Man's ultimate achievement none can guess.
Even dead hopes have come to life again.

Grant us that sight which sees beyond the day
And finds the larger purpose of the plan.
No race is ended at the middle way,
One easy triumph does not prove the man.
Let none despair or long with failure stay.
Strengthen us all to do the best we can.

Roll Call Now Being Planned By Red Cross

Date And Head Of Campaign Expected To Be Chosen By Organization Shortly

DRIVE TO TAKE PLACE IN COUNTY DISTRICTS

Plans for the annual county roll call of the local chapter of the American Red Cross are now getting under way, and it will be but shortly until the date for the yearly affair and the chairman of the drive will be selected and announced, according to a statement of Executive Secretary Pat J. Dempsey of the Lawrence county organization, this morning.

"We will conduct the roll call in all parts of the county with the exceptions of Ellwood City, New Castle and New Wilmington, in which cities community chest organizations are functioning or have functioned," said Mr. Dempsey. "A thorough campaign in the outlying districts throughout the county is promised."

"The national headquarters of the Red Cross has set a goal for five million new members this year, and it is likely that the goal will be reached," the secretary continued. "They are asking for one million members more than were desired in the 1927 campaign, and it is vital that each chapter round up its share of members.

"Apart from the Florida hurricanes of 1926 and this year and the New England and Mississippi floods of the past year or so, for which special drives were conducted, the national Red Cross has been called upon to render relief and rehabilitation in 66 other disasters in 33 different states throughout the year. This number shows that an average of five calamities a month were taken care of, and although some may not know it all of the money expended in these disasters came from fees taken from the annual membership of the organization. Money going for all such disasters aside from special drives likewise comes from the portion of membership fees that are sent to national headquarters.

"Of all of the different forms of membership in the Red Cross, whether is be a dollar fee or a life membership fee which requires $50 per year, fifty cents is forwarded to the national office. Out of this amount, money expended for all calamities other than those calling for special drives is taken."

Mr. Dempsey desires that the residents of Lawrence county take out membership in the organization this year. Ordinary membership costs one dollar; a contributing membership, five dollars, sustaining membership $10; supporting membership, $25; life membership, $50 and patron membership, $100 per year.

a good coffee!

From sunny plantations....in far off lands....across Southern seas ....comes the selected "top crop" coffees that go to make up the Glendora Blend. Each of these rare coffees plays its part in the final blending. Some assure its tempting fragrant aroma...others give to it its full, mellow depth of body....while others bring its pleasing, satisfying flavor.

It's this never-changing-always-the-same-flavor....richness and fragrance that has won the hearts of coffee lovers and gained for Glendora the title A GOOD COFFEE.

it proves itself in the cup.

You'll like Glendora once you have discovered its keen, satisfying goodness.

PETER'S ADVENTURES IN ANIMAL LAND

BY MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

HAIL, SPIRIT OF THE RIVER

"'Even if Purple-and-Green and Golden-Collar are my own brothers I am not sorry to see them leave,' declared White-Coat, turning first to the right and then to the left to gaze after the departing birds. 'I always did thing more of them when they were not around. Perhaps if we three brothers did not see each other for a long, long time we would grow to love each other as brothers should. But you are a nice fellow, Red-Feathers; you and I have never had much trouble in getting along. What do you say? Shall we continue our journey over the path that leads straight ahead?

"'All we have to do is to follow our noses and keep up our courage and we shall come out somewhere, that is one thing sure, and I haven't a bit of doubt that it will be a land where there are plenty of frogs and fat worms.'

"'M-m-m! That sounds good to me!' cried Red-Feathers. 'I am ready to leave any time you are. The sooner we reach a country where there is plenty to eat and nobody to fight with, the better for us.'

"So White-Coat and Red-Feathers set sail, and they flew for just how long nobody knows. At last they came to a river, but the water in this river was not very deep—not nearly so deep as it had been in many of the streams over which they had flown.

"'H-m! This is queer,' remarked White-Coat to Red-Feathers. 'It can't have rained here for weeks. See how the trees are dried up, and the grass—what there is of it—looks as if it had been scorched; and do you notice how many of the stones are sticking up out of the water near the shore? What in this world are all those two-legs doing over yonder?'

"White-Coat was pointing toward the land. Sure enough gathered upon the banks of the river were many two-legs and they were making queer noises. Some of them were beating themselves upon their breasts and others were tearing their hair.

"Another crowd was singing and waving branches in the air. And as the birds watched, little two-legs came and scattered flowers upon the river crying:

"'Oh, Spirit of the Nile, be kind to us and stir up your waters until they overflow your banks and give your hungry, thirsty lands their food and drink. Do it quickly or we people of Egypt will perish. There will be no crops for us to gather and we shall starve to death. Hail, oh, Spirit of the Nile! Only you can help us!'"

GATHERED UPON THE BANKS WERE MANY TWO-LEGS AND THEY WERE MAKING QUEER NOISES.

Next—"A Sign of Good Luck."

HIS HEALTH CAME BACK SOON AFTER HE GOT KONJOLA

Another New Castle Citizen Is Relieved Of That Tired, Worn-Out Feeling.

MR. WM. E. DUFFORD
Seavy Photo

Amazing reports are coming from men and women in all walks of life who have taken this new Konjola medicine and were delivered from their health troubles. This advanced remedy is a liquid compound. It contains juices from twenty-two roots and herbs, thus forming a medicine that cleanses the inner-system restores healthy digestion, invigorates the stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels, and strengthens the nerves. Konjola has also banished cases of rheumatism and neuritis for many New Castle people who have suffered for years.

The Konjola Man at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, is personally meeting throngs of people throughout each day and explaining Konjola. At the same time others already benefited by this famous remedy are offering some very unusual indorsements about it. A few days ago Mr. Wm. E. Dufford, 715 W. North street, this city, made the following statement:—

"Within a short space of three weeks, Konjola has completely restored my health," said Mr. Dufford, "and this is the first time in several years that I have been entirely out of misery.

"My health in general was getting worse during the past year and it really had me worried, especially since I was unable to find a remedy to help me. I would wake up in the morning with a bad taste and right after eating I would feel sick at the stomach. My liver was dull and inactive and this made me sluggish and drowsy most of the time. I had no pep or energy and by the time I retired at night I was so tired and worn out that I felt that I would never wake up. But still I never got a good night's rest. My kidneys were in such a disordered condition that I was forced to rise several times during the night and this kept me from going sound to sleep. I tried different remedies for relief, but nothing seemed to help me and I was becoming very discouraged.

"Then a friend of mine recommended that I try Konjola. It turned out to be just what I needed to build me up. The first few doses settled my stomach and ended the half-sick feeling that came over me after eating. By the end of the first week I could tell it was helping my kidneys because I only had to get up once or twice during the night. Now, the night risings have stopped altogether and my kidneys are in perfect condition. This medicine also restored my liver to more normal action and took away that tired, sluggish feeling that hung over me all the time. Since I have finished the treatment, I have a better appetite, enjoy sound, peaceful sleep at night and have plenty of pep and energy the next morning. I can certainly recommend this medicine to anyone, because I know what it will do."

The Konjola Man is at the Love and Megown drug store, 204 East Washington street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and introducing and explaining the merits of this remedy. Free samples given.

Konjola contains juices from 22 plants—more than other medicines. It is a new compound that works with the sufferer's food, restoring more healthful action to the important organs (stomach, liver, kidneys and bowels) and producing new energy and glorious health in a natural way, thru the entire inner-system.

Less Furnace Tending with Youngstown Domestic

COKE

Coal in its most efficient form

HEAT your house with coke—and enjoy a greater freedom from furnace tending. Coke lessens furnace drudgery because it requires less attention than coal—the fire needs less stoking, less shaking down, less draft adjusting and fewer trips to the furnace.

But coke does more than reduce the physical effort of furnace tending—it makes a warmer, more uniform fire which means a more comfortable home to live in. Temperatures can be kept less fluctuating with less effort. And then, too, coke is clean. It is coal with its soot and dust removed. It is concentrated heat—easy to burn, easy to handle and high in heating efficiency—and it is available in the Youngstown territory at almost the same cost as soft coal.

Mrs. Isaac White Of New Wilmington Dies In Sharon Hospital

INFECTION FOLLOWS BREAKING OF WRIST

Mrs. Mary Edna White, aged 41, wife of Isaac White of Wilmington township, died about 4:30 Saturday afternoon in the Buhl hospital, Sharon, after an illness of about a week.

Order Service Lines Inspected

Councilmen Direct That Sewer Connections Be Properly Inspected

City Engineer Frank Miller reported to council, in session at the City building today that plumbers had installed approximately a dozen service lines from sanitary sewers to houses in the Liberty street sewer district without having undergone the formality of securing a permit. As the result of this allegation council ordered Miller to cause the erring plumbers to uncover all the ditches for inspection.

Until this is done, according to council, the plumbers whom Miller alleged to have erred, will not be granted further permits.

The connections were made in Ashland avenue and Liberty street, Miller told council.

COLDS MAY DEVELOP INTO PNEUMONIA

Coughs from colds may lead to serious trouble. You can stop them now with Creomulsion, an emulsified creosote that is pleasant to take. Creomulsion is a medical discovery with two-fold action; it soothes and heals the inflamed membranes and inhibits germ growth.

Of all known drugs creosote is recognized by high medical authorities as one of the greatest healing agencies for coughs from colds and bronchial irritations. Creomulsion contains, in addition to creosote, other healing elements which soothe and heal the inflamed membranes and stop the irritation, while the creosote goes on to the stomach, is absorbed into the blood, attacks the seat of the trouble and checks the growth of the germs.

Creomulsion is guaranteed satisfactory in the treatment of coughs from colds, bronchitis and minor forms of bronchial irritations, and is excellent for building up the system after colds or flu. Money refunded if not relieved after taking according to directions. Ask your druggist. (adv.)

PEOPLE ARE RESPONSIBLE FOR CITY'S CHARITY WORK

People Seldom Realize Their Own Part In Work, Says Fears

Community Chest Is Place For Every Charity Gift, He Asserts

"We some times wonder if the people of a community realize their responsibility in giving. To those who have been intimately identified with this subject through Community Chests and welfare agencies, their work has led them to believe that not many people realize their entire responsibility. If they did they would give more willingly and co-ordinate their efforts with the agencies," asserts Herbert Pears director of the Community Chest campaign which will get under way Tuesday morning.

"Even in the most prosperous times, philanthrophy is a necessity," Mr Pears believes. "Always there are people in trouble. Always there are people who need assistance. Death, sickness, accident, unemployment, fire disaster are always bringing misery to someone and leaving human problems in their wake. These problems must be met; philanthrophy is the means. For it is really the spirit of love at work. It is the heart of a man, a group, a city beating with warm compassion for the stricken and unfortunate. It is the desire to help others, finding practical expression in deeds.

"But the practical American of today has a new conception of giving. He wants to be sure that his gifts will be administered honestly and without waste. He wants to know that he is supporting a useful work; he wants to know that those aided by his gift will gain initiative and self reliance instead of being pushed further into dependance. And lastly, the giver wants to feel that those entrusted with his benefactions are taking every advantage of the new discoveries in surgery, medicine, psychology and social and domestic sciences to promote and restore health and independence in the individual and to prevent misery in the future.

"This does not mean that philanthropy is no longer a labor of live in America. The spirit is still there, fervent as ever. It is even more potent than before, because through popular demand it is now reinforced by economy, intelligence and responsibility.

"The Community Chest came into existence in response to this demand. For a number of years New Castle his financed its major philanthropies through it. Results speak for themselves. The quality of the work has been improved, duplication has been largely eliminated and the services extended to meet the fast growing needs of New Castle.

"With the Chest yearly becoming more efficient, with waste being eliminated, duplication of effort largely removed the logical place for every charitable person of New Castle to place his part for the work in the city is in the Community Chest.

Evidence Against Blackmer Is Given Foreign Officials

United States Seeks To Show Why H. M. Blackmer Should Be Extradited

(International News Service)

PARIS, Oct. 29. — The United States government has forwarded additional information to the French foreign office to amplify the grounds upon which America seeks the extradition of H. M. Blackmer for alleged perjury in connection with federal income tax returns in Colorado, it was learned at the foreign office by International News Service this afternoon.

Blackmer, who was a missing Teapot Dome oil witness in the Fall-Sinclair investigation, was reported to be attempting to effect an amicable settlement with the Washington government in the tax case.

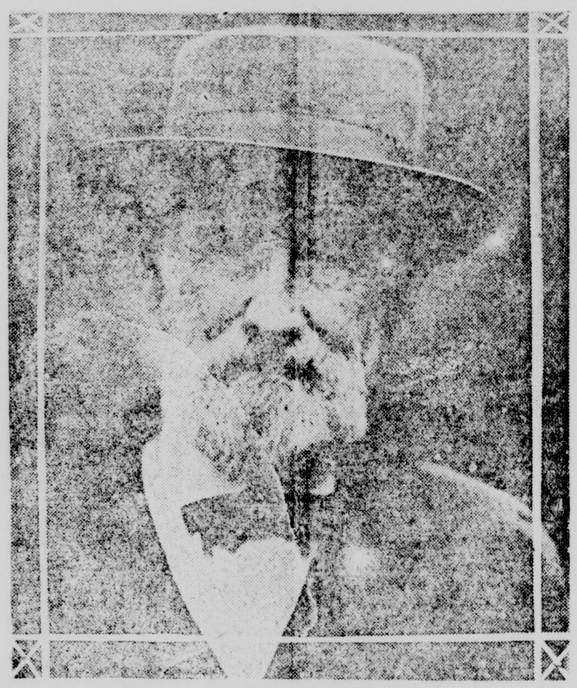
TWENTIETH PRESIDENTIAL VOTE



When voters throughout the country go to the polls on November 6th, Herbert Hoover will get one vote from a Syracuse, N. Y., citizen who cast his first vote 76 years ago, when Whigs were still an American political factor and when Franklin Pierce defeated Gen. Winfield Scott for the presidency. It will be the twentieth time Otis B. Cowles of 1004 Harrison street has voted in a presidential election, and just for good measure November 6 also will be his [illegible] birthday.

Opinion Given By Judge Hildebrand In Hirschfeld Case

In the case of Arthur H. Hirschfeld against Harry Robins, Judge Hildebrand handed down a decision in court this morning in which questions of law raised in the affidavit of defense are dismissed and he is allowed 15 days in which to file a supplementary affidavit of defense. The case is based on an oral agreement between Hirschfeld and Robins to go into the furniture business. Robins was to furnish the capital and Hirschfeld the experience. Hirschfeld claims that after he had spent several weeks looking for a suitable site at which to open the business, and had visited Grand Rapids, Mich., to buy goods, that Robins notified him that he did not want him in the business that had been opened on East Washington street. Plaintiff claims that arrangements would have been profitable to him and wants $11,600 for preliminary work and damage through failure to get his share of expected profits.

Zeppelin's Trip Arouses Germany

Citizens Show Keenest Interest In Return Trip Of Zeppelin

(International News Service)

BERLIN, Oct. 29.—The Graf Zeppelin is coming home and all Germany is getting ready to welcome her on the completion of her epochal round trip, trans-Atlantic voyage.

So sudden was the departure of the air liner from Lakehurst, N. J., at 7:55 a. m. (Berlin time) that Germany was unaware of her take-off until it was announced by International News Service.

Frau Eckener, wife of Commodore Hugo Eckener, commander of the ship, who lives at Friedrichshafen, was notified of the departure of the dirigible via long distance telephone by International News Service.

"I am sure that everything will go all right this time. I am entirely confident," she said.

Friedrichshafen, the home of the Graf Zeppelin and the seat of the Zeppelin Works, buzzed with excitement. There was a hasty scanning of weather bulletins and charts of north Atlantic air lanes.

Shortly after four o'clock this afternoon the German ministry of posts announced that it had requested all radio stations to refuse private messages for those on board the Zeppelin in order to avoid overloading the receiving apparatus on board the Graf, thus leaving the Zeppelin's radio clear for the reception of weather reports.

BUILDING CODE MEASURE PASSED BY CITY COUNCIL

have the money necessary for enforcement that could be attended to later.

"If passed it becomes operative 10 days after passage but if an inspector is not appointed it becomes a question whether or not a citizen cannot come in and force the city to enforce the code' explained Solicitor White.

Mayor Gillespie said: "I am opposed to it. Why? To secure a man to enforce it and to get a man with the necessary knowledge will cost the city between $4,000 and $5,000 a year."

Councilman Davies replied that "it would not take any more brains here to enforce the law than it does in other cities."

"Yes, they have an ordinance (meaning some other cities) or a form of one, but only a man like (Louis) Haug would know what it means. You can give a man a job on this. It is very complicated," said Mayor Gillespie.

"Yes, the mayor is right but you can get a man like Neal Williams. He would not have any trouble. He is smart enough and would learn quick. He enforces the building bureau rules," remarked White, the city's legal adviser.

"It is not so intricate to people accustomed to such things," Davies stated.

"We should have a code but I think it is too big," said Burns.

"If we find it too cumbersome we can amend it," stated Tyler.

"I guarantee that there will be a dozen applicants for the position as inspector," Burns said.

"The applicant will have to be recommended and approved by council," replied Tyler.

"I am afraid that it will cost the people more to build," declared Burns.

"I know it will," answered Mayor Gillespie.

"I thought we would have a reasonable code but this, I believe, is an elephant'" informed Burns.

Solicitor White informed council that the measure should be read throughout which was done.

Vote Is Taken

The vote was taken and resulted in the measure passing three to two, the section stating it should become effective April 1, 1928, having been eliminated before it was placed for vote.

The building code ordinance will be available to persons by application to the city engineering or city clerk's office. It is voluminous, has been printed in its entirety and provides how all construction here must be accomplished.

It establishes fire limits, regulations and governs construction, alteration and enforcement of the regulations and provides for penalties. It also says that after approval of the ordinance no building can be built, altered or raised that would be a violation of the ordinance.

Primarily the law is enacted to provide adequate and safe building construction, including the planning, design, quality, use and erection of building materials, systems and forms of construction and to prevent loss of life and property damage from unsafe and improper design and construction.

Builders must obtain a permit and the license fees are charged for buildings costing more than $500. To move buildings it will cost $2.00 plus $3.00 for each day a street or alley is obstructed. Billboard erection fees will cost 50 cents for every 25 lineal feet.

Council must name a building inspector who can be removed after his length of office which has not yet been set. He will have supervision to enforce the code. In emergencies the city engineer shall have the power to name an assistant inspector. Council must approve this appointment.

The ordinance is voluminous and to be understood must be studied. Until the building inspector is named the measure may not become operative.

In view of his first name, Salmon, it seems to us entirely fitting that the picture of Chase should go on the $10,000 bills. Any suggestion of a $10,000 bill seems fishy to us.

In other words, the government has no business in private business.

Council Officers Plan For Annual

Young People Of New Castle Churches Select November 25 For Meeting

WILL BE HELD AT CENTRAL CHRISTIAN

Officers of the New Castle Young People's Sunday School Council convened in the parlors of the Y. W. C. A. Sunday afternoon to outline plans for the organization's tenth anniversary conference which will be observed at the Central Christian church, Long avenue, on the afternoon and evening of Sunday, November 25.

After a short praise service led by Frank Brenneman, with Miss Frances Turner at the piano, the officers heard a number of brief talks on subjects relative to council work. Miss Evelyn Winger, former associate superintendent of the group, was in attendance and gave an interesting account of gaining friends. Another feature was the banjo solo rendered by Kenneth Brenneman, accompanied by Miss Alice Armstrong.

The place and date of the coming "annual" for the organization were selected after an invitation had been offered by a representative from the Central Christian congregation. It was decided that the afternoon session of the meeting on that day will be opened at two p. m. Other details relative to the anniversary observance were arranged and will be made known at a later date.

Officers of the council will be elected at that meeting and will hold office for one year. Dewayne Glenn now heads the boys' division and Miss Claudia Boughter the girls.

Dr. S. E. Irvine, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of this city, was in attendance and presented the plans of the New Castle Ministerial association for the coming visitation evangelistic campaign to be launched early in January of next year.

Faulty Headlights Cause Accidents

New Castle Motor Club Manager Asks Motorists To Adjust Lights

Figures compiled in cities by automobile organizations show that three to five per cent of night time accidents are caused by faulty headlights states Bernard Hanlon of the New Castle Motor club and the local motor club is asking that all motorists see to the adjustment of their lights immediately and aid in the prevention of accidents.

Not only is adjustment necessary, states Mr. Hanlon but dazzling headlights are an even greater menace. Night time accidents are now taking a great toll of persons and in nearly every case the cause was a faulty headlight of some sort.

Throughout the nation motor clubs are making a personal appeal to all drivers and car owners to get their lights properly focused and aid in the reduction of the number of accidents. The local motor club asks that all motorists in the county have their lights adjusted and notice the results which will come of it.

Divorce Is Refused To Wilbur Wells; Case Is Dismissed

In an opinion handed down this morning Judge Hildebrand refused to grant a divorce to Wilbur Wells from Eva Wells. The application was made on the grounds of adultery. This was denied by the respondent who in an answer, charged the libellant with the same offense. In his opinion Judge Hildebrand finds that while the actions of the litigants may have been such as to arouse suspicions there were no charges actualy proven. The application is therefore refused and the case dismissed. They were married in November, 1916 and lived together until June, 1925.

Will Send Deaf And Blind Boy To Special School

Institution For Deaf Accepts Committee's Application For Dale Marshall

Dale Marshall, New Castle blind and deaf boy for whom money was raised by The News, has been admitted into the Western Pennsylvania School for the Deaf situated at Edgewood, Pittsburgh, Pa., according to the word received here this morning by J. Lee Calahan, chairman of the Rotary committee in charge of the boy.

Application was made first to enter the lad in a special school for blind persons. However, it was deemed best to place him in the deaf school where he may learn the manual alphabet prior to entering the blind school.

According to the statement made in the letter to Mr. Calahan, an application blank will be sent immediately, and it is thought that the boy will be sent to the school within the next week.

Following his enrollment in the school for deaf and his learning of the manual alphabet, then, stated the school for blind, we shall see what can be done toward his entrance to this school.

Originally the money was raised for an operation for the boy by popular subscription. It has been found since that he is beyond any relief or aid through any sort of an operation and the committee deemed that the next best thing was to send him to a school where special care would be obtained for him.

When a service station gets an early morning call these days the attendant doesn't know whether it's going to bring into action the gas pump or the pump gun.

Dry Squads To Guard Against Poison Liquor

Take Steps To Curb Epidemic Of Deaths During Coming Holidays

WOOD ALCOHOL IS COFFIN HIGHBALL

Middle-Class Drinkers Will Get Domestic Stuff For Christmas

By ROBERT S. THORNBURGH
International News Service Staff Correspondent

WASHINGTON, Oct. 29.—Prohibition machinery was put in motion today to guard against repetition of last year's epidemics of poison liquor deaths during the Thanksgiving and Christmas holidays.

Following the recent liquor casualties in New York as a result of distribution of a quantity of synthetic wood alcohol, Prohibition Commissioner J. M. Doran instructed administrators in big cities to keep a close check on supplies of methanol.

"There should be no particular danger of a death epidemic from poison liquor in the holidays, unless somebody lets lose a batch of wood alcohol," Doran said. "We are taking steps to prevent this but sometimes a few drums do get on the market. As a beverage wood alcohol is a coffin highball."

Treasury reports showed that liquor smuggling decreased very little in 1928. Quantities of European, Latin-American and Canadian whiskey are still coming into the country over the borders and coast line.

Moonshine alcohol, whiskey, and other locally made intoxicants flavored possibly with a little foreign liquor will furnish most of the joy-water for the holidays, treasury officials said. Some of the favored few fat pocketbooks along the Eastern seaboard and border points may get a quart or two of real stuff, but the great, middle-class of drinkers must be content with the domestic stuff.

October 29, 1928.

Dear Brother Lion:—

Rev. Samuel L. Maxwell, a brother Kiwanian, will tell us tomorrow about his recent trip across the Atlantic.

Sam was overseas during the stirring days of 1917-18 and he traveled over some of the same territory this time. He has an interesting story to tell us of what he saw over there.

Very truly yours,
THOMAS I. ELLIOTT, Secretary.

If you make an ass of yourself today, that is called folly. If you keep it up for two weeks, it is called a marathon.

Picking Presidents

1912: The Bull Moose Split

By CHARLES L. MULLIGAN
Written for Central Press and New Castle News

Woodrow Wilson

History of the world hung on the campaign of 1912. To detail its high lights would overflow the limits of this entire page. Fortunately, its heated issues, its clashing of personalities, its swift marshaling of momentous political events, are still fresh in the memory of most of us. It was a melodrama in four acts.

Act I was the Republican convention at Chicago. In the background were the historic break between President Taft and his sponsor, ex-President Roosevelt, the shattered promise of Roosevelt not to seek the presidency again, the visit of seven governors (including Hiram Johnson) to entreat him to run, the presidential primary majorities for Roosevelt in 16 states, the determination of Taft to win a re-nomination. Roosevelt, on the spot, raged and roared. He urged the convention to proceed without contested delegations; losing in the contests, he called upon his supporters to withdraw, since "any man nominated by the convention as now constituted would be merely the beneficiary of successful fraud." Out they went, and Taft and Sherman were re-nominated on the first ballot.

Act II, the Democratic convention at Baltimore. Enter Bryan, three times defeated candidate, to capture the convention, but not for himself. He fought against Parker for temporary chairman, fought against the choice of anybody backed by the New York delegation, fought down the selection of Speaker Champ Clark and swung the nomination for Governor Woodrow Wilson, of New Jersey, after 46 ballots.

Act III, the Progressive convention at Chicago. Roosevelt, crying "we stand at Armageddon and we battle for the Lord," launched a new party. He "felt like a Bull Moose," and his delegates cheered and sang and stamped their feet.

Act IV, the election itself, was an anti-climax. It was a foregone conclusion that Wilson would win. Taft carried only two states—Utah and Vermont—with fewer popular votes than Grant had in '72. His running mate died before election day and the vice presidential votes went to President Nicholas Murray Butler, of Columbia University. Wilson's tremendous electoral vote represented by a considerable margin a minority of the people who went to the polls.

The electoral vote: Woodrow Wilson, New Jersey, and Thomas R. Marshall, Indiana, 435 votes; Theodore Roosevelt, New York, and Hiram Johnson, California, Progressives, 88; William H. Taft, Ohio, and Nicholas Murray Butler, New York, Republicans, 8.

The popular vote: Wilson, 6,286,214; Roosevelt, 4,126,020; Taft, 3,484,922; Debs (Socialist), 897,011.

(This is the thirty-second of a series of 35 digests of presidential campaigns. The thirty-third will be: "1916: Wilson Wins With Western Votes.")

Eventually the radio will let you see the performancers, but even that won't kill public entertainments. No radio can let the audience see your new clothes.

Peace League Will Convene

Women's League For Peace Will Meet November 16 At Pittsburgh

WOMEN'S CLUBS ARE ASKED TO ATTEND

By BURL A. ELY
International News Service Staff Correspondent

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Oct. 29— Hopeful of effecting a permanent organization, a western Pennsylvania Conference, sponsored by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, on the cause and cure of war, will be held here November 16 in Carnegie Music Hall under the chairmanship of Mrs. A. H. Bowman.

The conference will be one of two to be held in Pennsylvania this year.

The recently signed Kellog peace pact, which was successfully brought to a conclusion in Paris this year under the direction of Secretary of State Frank B. Kellogg, is expected to be the center of the discussion at the conference.

Ardent supporters of the peace pact are hopeful that the conference will place its stamp of approval on the plan which is as yet unsigned by the Senate, and express its favorable reaction to the pact in a petition to the Senate urging that the treaty be ratified.

The eight Pennsylvania organizations which participated in the national conference held in Washington last January, and who were instrumental in forwarding the movement of the peace league in this state are: Council of Women for Home Missions, American Association of University of Women, Federation of Women's Boards of Foreign Missions, Pennsylvania Federation of Women's Clubs, Pennsylvania Board of the Young Women's Christian Association, Pennsylvania Conference of National Council of Jewish Women, Pennsylvania League of Women Voters and Pennsylvania Women's Christian Temperance Union.

Invitations have been extended to all women's organizations throughout the state and numerous acceptances have already been received by the committee in charge of the conference.

The Way OF THE World

By GROVE PATTERSON

LIVING FOREVER.

A woman once powerful as the leader of a religious body, died the other day. She had said that she was immortal, would never die. There is no exception to the rule of the earth. Protest as much as we will, make all the extravagant claims we care to the house of the spirit wears out and falls away. There is only one way to carry on through the ages and that is to put something of ourselves into great causes and great institutions of service. These go on.

WATCH YOUR WHEEL.

The old saying "watch your step" is now "watch your wheel." One in every five motor drivers in the large city areas of the United States is charged with violating the traffic laws at least once every year. Figures from 18 large cities show that more than a half million were arrested for traffic law violations in 1927 as against about 75,000 ten years ago. We must more and more attune our movements to our "frequency." With all the new road that is being built in America and with the widening of city streets the traffic situation is being taken car of—so long as each driver does his best to look after himself and his neighbor.

ITALY MUST SUFFER.

Poor Italy will some day pay a high price for her present apparent prosperity. Just now, under the powerful sway of the dictator, there is law and order. Every newspaper in Italy supports the dictator's decrees. No criticism is permitted. Not long ago Mussolini brought to Rome the editors of all the daily papers in his realm and told them what to say and how to say it. He will learn some day that people aren't built that way. He will have to face one of two things, perhaps both. He will see the energy and ambition and initiative of his people dwindle away or he will have bloody revolution. There can be no permanent health in government without freedom. There must be the freedom to comment, the freedom to criticise, and the freedom to participate in affairs.

FAT

Fat and will power are closely linked. There is only one way to keep from getting fat if you are of the type that has a tendency toward over-weight. That is to have will power and quit eating while you are still hungry. Beware of anti-fat drugs. Doctors, testifying before the federal trade commission recently, charged that the lives of thousands of women and young girls were threatened by the use of dangerous, weight-reducing drugs which are put forward as pleasant and harmless.

Without will power there is no hope.

Another good way to keep on your toes is to assure yourself you would have all of your teeth fixed if you had time.

"Well," said the clerk considering, "there's Pike Casey up in that third house on the left—he died last night."

Valley Y. P. C. U. Holds Convention

Ellwood Church Scene Of Annual Fall Rally Of U. P. Young People

NEW CASTLE CHURCHES SEND REPRESENTATIVES

More than 700 members of the Young People's Christian Union of the United Presbyterian church of Beaver Valley gathered at the Ellwood U. P. church for their annual fall convention on Saturday afternoon. Representatives from almost every congregation of that denomination in the Presbytery of Beaver Valley attended the affair.

Opening at 2:30 o'clock, the afternoon session continued until near 5:30 when the regular banquet took place. Rev. W. E. Minteer, pastor of the Ellwood church, delivered the address of welcome immediately after convening. Following his greetings came addresses by members of the organization's executive committee and the national officers concerning young people's activities. At 4:15 G. A. P. Bowman, presbyterial secretary, presented the silver trophy cup that the Beaver Valley organization won at the recent national convention at Conneaut Lake Park.

At 5:30 p. m., the banquet occurred, with the ladies of the Ellwood church serving the dinner. Rev. W. E. Minteer of the Ellwood church presided as toastmaster over the occasion, while Dr. A. J. Randles of the New Castle Second church made a humorous talk.

Dr. J. Alvin Orr, pastor of the First United Presbyterian church of Pittsburgh, made the chief address at the evening assembly. He spoke on the convention theme "Why Am I Here?" and stressed that as God made no two persons alike neither did He send any two persons into this world to do the very same thing, but each a different one, expecting him to do it well. His discourse was stirring and immensely enjoyed. James Brady of the Ellwood church conducted the evening devotionals while Donald A. Spencer, a student in the Pittsburgh Theological Seminary, talked on "Christian Citizenship."

The four United Presbyterian churches of this city were well represented at the annual meeting.

Sees Mirage While Driving On Trip Through Oklahoma

One of the most unusual of nature's phenomena is reported by Mrs. W. L. Davidson of 122 Edison avenue, in a letter to The News this morning. Mrs. Davidson tells about a mirage in northeastern Oklahoma and relates another tale about another mirage which was visible on the ocean. Her letter follows:

While driving through from Texas this summer I witnessed an unusual phenomena which might be of interest to readers of your "tourist column".

One morning while traveling in northeastern Oklahoma, following a hard night rain, we were surprised to see a mirage which wholly and entirely covered the southern horizon. Many small trees, huge oil tanks, flat houses and business buildings such as are typical of southern Oklahoma and northern Texas architecture, crowded the horizon in a broad panorama. This lasted about 40 minutes.

While discussing this unusual occurrence some one mentioned a mirage which was visible to those on a large ocean liner in the midst of the Atlantic.

Just at sunset the image of a large steamship was seen in silhouette against the red sun, as the sun was about to dip below the horizon. The captain of the ship said that was but the second time he had seen that extraordinary sight in 47 years of sea life.

The ship was picked up by wireless and they learned it was just 270 miles away, while ten miles is as far as the eye can carry at sea.

We forded streams, were dragged by teams over inundated bridges with water above the engine, and had other experiences on the road but nothing surpassed, in interest, our mirage.

More Than 2,300 At Tabernacle

Evangelist Erickson Preaches To Large Crowd Sunday Evening

DIVINE HEALING SERVICE TUESDAY

Before 2,300 citizens of New Castle and Lawrence county, perhaps the largest ever to assemble at Everybody's Tabernacle at the corner of South Mill and Friendship streets during the four weeks that the revival campaign has been in progress, Evangelist C. H. Erickson opened the fifth week of his services Sunday night when he preached on "The Spiritual Ear" and the way it can be trained to hear or to reject the voice of God.

At the beginning of the service over $1,000 was raised to continue the work in the tabernacle. Mr. Erickson explained that so far the collections had not been sufficient to meet the current expenses of the campaign, and that he had to borrow money so that he could continue the work. Many people pledged themselves to give $10 to the tabernacle during the coming week while others pledged amounts of five dollars, two dollars and one dollar.

Taking as his text "He who hath ears to hear, let him hear," which, he averred, appears no less than 13 times in the Bible, Mr. Erickson, after the singing by the Alliance colored quintet, told his audience how one may lose his outer and also his inner hearing.

"The spiritual ear can be trained," he asserted. "It can be trained to hear the voice of God. And, there are some people who will turn their inward ear away when the voice of God speaks; they do not hear Him when He calls to them to be saved. They plan to wait just a little longer before they confess Jesus Christ, the Son of God, as their personal Saviour. They plan to wait just a little while longer before they will accept salvation.

"One of the most pitiful things in the world is for a man to lose this inner hearing, to lose the sight of God and His work. The most pitiful man in the world is he who refuses to listen to the word of God, he who rejects salvation, the man who hardens his heart against the voice of the Almighty.

"Personally, I would much rather play with chain lightning than to trifle with Jesus. The gospel is a two-edged sword; it cuts either towards or away from God. It is like the sun shining on two objects; one it will make soft while the other it hardens. Gospel will either stamp the image of God on one's heart, or it will ruin that same heart. I feel that I am here to warn; to warn the sinner to get saved."

At the end of the service ten people answered the altar call and confessed Jesus Christ as the Son of God and their personal Saviour. They knew the evangelist pointed out, the danger of getting beyond the reach of God.

Immediately preceding the sermon Mr. and Mrs. Lacy, who are connected with the Alliance colored quintet, sang a duet and Mr. Erickson opened his sermon with a solo.

Monday there will be no services at the tabernacle, Mr. Erickson announced. Tuesday morning at 10:30 services will start again, and Tuesday evening the evangelist will speak on the subject of divine healing, while Wednesday will be testimony night and Thursday, Mr. Erickson will speak on the second coming of Jesus Christ, in what he believes will be his most important sermon in New Castle. Friday night he will again speak on divine healing and Saturday night will be music night.

Feed Fat Away
The Food is in Marmola

It seems queer, but the modern method is to feed away excess fat. The food is a gland substance, taken from cattle and sheep. The amount decided by scientific tests is two grains a day.

The reason is this: Medical research has found that the great cause of excess fat lies in a weakened gland. It is really a disease. No exercise or diet can correct it.

When that gland is under-active, too much food goes to fat. Physicians, the world over, in treating obesity, now try to correct that condition.

The main factor is embodied in Marmola prescription tablets. They were perfected in a famous medical laboratory. People have used them for more than 20 years—millions of boxes of them. They have told the results to others. Not only constant loss of weight, but new health and vitality. Thus the use has spread, from year to year, until countless people use this modern method.

You can see the results wherever you look. Slender figures are the rule. Excess fat is now a rarity. Men and women try to look and feel their best.

Try this method for excess fat in any part that makes you look old or abnormal. Watch the fat fade away. Watch the new vigor that comes. You will be amazed and delighted. Don't go on with a weight of fat when so many are getting slender. Start today.

Marmola prescription tablets are sold by all druggists at $1 per box. If your druggist is out, he will get them at once from his jobber.

Police Believe Fire In Wilkinsburg Grocery Of Incendiary Origin

(International News Service)

WILKINSBURG, Pa., Oct. 29.—Six persons were driven from their homes, one man was injured and two men were arrested when fire, believed to have been incendiary origin swept through a two-story brick building here early today.

The first floor of the building is occupied as the grocery of Mitchell Sheffler, 36, of Braddock, whose grocery store occupies the first floor of the building and his brother-in-law, Alexander Pollock, 19, of Braddock, were arrested, after fireman claimed they found an oil soaked rope in the basement.

Mrs. Minder told police, they said, that she heard some person in the store and basement at 3 o'clock this morning. Firemen said that doors to both store and basement were unlocked when they arrived. Investigation showed that the fire had broken out in two places in the store.

Warner was attended at Columbia hospital.

Give Lectures On Pilgrim's Progress At First Baptist

Ninety Beautifully Colored Slides By Royal Academy Artists To Be Shown

Five stereopticon lectures on Bunyan's Pilgrim's Progress will be given at the First Baptist church beginning tonight and continuing until Friday night. As this is the 300th anniversary of the birth of "The Immortal Dreamer" it is most fitting that his masterpiece should again be studied.

The pastor, G. M. Landis, has about 90 beautifully colored lantern slides, all of which were executed by Royal Academy artists. These pictures were selected by the celebrated children's evangelist, Alfred P. Gibbs of Johannesburg, South Africa, who searched the libraries of England, Africa and America for the best illustrations of Bunyan's great book. Boys and girls are especially invited to these meetings, although they will be of interest to young and old alike. The lectures will begin promptly at 7:30, closing at 8:30.

Bringing Canadian Money Home From Trip Not So Good

Owing to the return to the states of many Americans who have been touring Canada there has been a deluge of Canadian silver money and in many instances the silver pieces are difficult to get rid of. Many establishments, locally, refuse to accept Canadian money.

A reporter endeavored to pass off a Canadian quarter and for a week he has carried the silver piece in his pocket. In his efforts he did not use deception but simply asked: "Is a Canadian quarter acceptable?" The proverbial answer was "No".

In one restaurant the waitress decided she would rather let the reporter sign his name to a "meal check" and "tick" in preference to accepting and placing the 25-cent Canadian piece in the cash register, something which caused him to visit several banks.

"The money from Canada, no doubt has been brought home by tourists and in many ways finds itself in circulation. We do not charge a discount to our own customers," said one bank attache, and the same statement was made by another. They report it expensive to handle.

For instance when considerable of the Canadian money is received the bank must ship it to New York or Buffalo and in cases where a bill of Canadian money is of a large denomination it is necessary to charge a discount as the bank naturally must carry the burden.

Automobile Club Make Plans For Safety Campaign

New Castle Automobile Dealers Association Hope For Traffic Betterment

Will Co-Operate With City Officials And Civic Organizations In Work

Members of the New Castle Automobile Dealers association at their recent meeting in the Elks club, made plans for an extensive safety drive for New Castle. They plan to co-operate with city officials, Chamber of Commerce and various other civic clubs in obtaining better traffic conditions in the city, according to the statement of Ray Hall, secretary of the automobile association this morning.

One thing which the association discussed in the meeting was the increasing number of drivers who pay no attention to the stop signs at street intersections. A great percentage of the motorists disregard these warnings and the result is anything but safety.

With regard to the signs, the association will advocate warning and stop signs for pedestrians. Motorists, when they do have the signal light to go, cannot make time on account of the fact that possibly a dozen pedestrians, who pay no attention to the signs, are on the street at the time. What the association desires, states Mr. Hall, is that pedestrians must abide by stop signs as well as motorists and this will not only decrease accidents but speed up traffic as well.

In addition to this, the automobile association desires that proper routing be done in the city so that tourists will not have such difficulty in finding the road in quest. At the present time, states the association, this is not possible and signs should be placed and police should know the various routes.

In this drive, the automobile association wishes to work with the city authorities, and with various civic clubs in obtaining this traffic betterment which they deem is essential for the city at the present time.

With regard to pedestrians observing light changes, states the association, this must be accomplished previous to the snow and icy streets. A recent survey made shows that the majority of pedestrians disregard the signs and this will undoubtedly cause numerous accidents on icy streets.

The automobile association plan to start their campaign for traffic and pedestrians betterment immediately.

Several Hundred Autos In Caravan

New Castle Crowd At Washington Game Nearly 2,500 Is Estimate

RETURN GAME IS ASKED FOR SCHOOL

Not everybody went to Washington, Pa., Saturday for the football game between New Castle and Washington High schools. Somebody had to stay at home of course, but the good people of Washington were of the opinion that all the able bodied men and women were there.

It was just the usual following of course, but in the ball park in Washington they made a splendid showing, one worthy of New Castle, and before this article gets any older let it be said that the New Castle fans were orderly and appreciated the fact, apparently that they were visiting.

Hundreds of Cars.

Most of the crowd, estimated at between 2,500 and 3,000, went down in automobiles. Long before the automobile caravan got under way there was a steady stream of cars on the road and from early morning Washington folks saw red and black cars coming in.

Three motor cycle officers piloted the caravan, and aside from the automobile fans, some 300 went down in the special train.

Arriving in Washington the visitor was impressed with the fact that they wanted to do the honors in a big way. The Washington High School band met the train, the American Legion bugle and drum corps blared out its welcome and the citizens were as friendly as old home week back in some village.

Headquarters were in the George Washington hotel and the lobby looked like a political convention before the game. The streets were filled and early the crowd began to trek its way to the playing field. Somehow the New Castle band got scattered and did not do any playing before the game. The boys were not in their seats in the field until 2:25 and as a result the New Castle Band did little but blow a tune or two before the game started. They played in the intermission between halves.

And That Game

As for the game itself, the Washington newspaper men were of the opinion that it was by far the best game played on that field this year. For forty eight minutes, two school boy elevens struggled up and down a chalk crossed gridiron, with neither side giving any quarter, and neither side able to push the ball over the goal line.

Opening the first quarter it seemed certain that New Castle would score. The ball was first downed on the twenty yard line and from there the red and black carried it to the sixteen yard line of the enemy, only to get a fifteen yard penalty and lose on downs. From that on there was but one time when a touchdown seemed certain and this was in the second period when Washington ran a forward pass to within a foot of the line, but they were not to go over. For four downs New Castle held them without gain, the most remarkable piece of defense seen by any football team wearing the red and black in years. Had the game gone a couple of minutes longer New Castle might have scored, as the ball was advanced to the 12-yard line in the last period but here a forward pass was attempted and failed.

Want Return Game

Washington was delighted with the outstanding success of the game, and the unusual turn out of New Castle fans. "We want on the schedule for next year" was the statement of several of the Washington authorities, "and we would like the Thanksgiving game." And the New Castle fans promised that this arrangement would suit them.

Almost as soon as the game was over the New Castle fans started leaving. By seven o'clock over half of the automobiles had gone, and by the time the special train was ready to leave at nine o'clock, the town was about deserted insofar as New Castle fans were concerned. A few stayed over preferring to drive on Sunday, instead of through the misty rain that annoyed the travelers coming home.

New Castle didn't win of course, but then neither did Washington. It was a game that will stand out as the high spot of the season's play unless some future game tops it, which seems unlikely. The unfortunate part of it is that it will probably disqualify both teams for the W. P. I. A. L. championship, and leave a comparitivley clear field for Charleroi. Either Washington or New Castle would probably defeat any other team in the league this year but they couldn't do anything more on Saturday than eliminate each other.

Mayor Acts As Peace Maker

Domestic Troubles Of Mahoning Avenue Family Aired Before Mayor

William Nashorowski, 212 Mahoning avenue, was before his honor Mayor William H. Gillespie just before noon today on the serious charge of beating his wife.

Nashorowski, his wife and daughter Helen appeared before the mayor.

Bill admitted beating his wife because she refused to give him a little spending money, claiming that he worked every day and she would not give him any spending money.

The wife in turn claimed that he wanted five dollars to gamble and drink and that he often wanted money for that purpose and beat her when it was not forthcoming.

Helen informed the mayor that they were always fighting and both were to blame.

The mayor then informed Nashorowski that he was fined $50 with the alternative of thirty days in jail, but that sentence was suspended, providing he remained good for two years and did not beat his wife.

The mayor also advised the wife that she should see to it that her husband received some small portion of his money for spending money, but not to be used in gambling. The family went away happy.

Women's Federated Clubs

THE ELECTION

What are you doing?

Many Americans, if they think of the government at all, it is a thing apart, far apart, from themselves. The first person we should think of as responsible, is one's own self. In a representative republic like ours, each citizen may say to himself: "I am the state." Authority and responsibility in our form of government rests entirely in the people. What are you doing, what have you done, what are you going to do for our government?

When we stop to think of the sacrifice and service by Americans in years gone by, the blush of shame comes to our cheek as we remember how little we are doing. When we think of their hardships, struggle and sacrifices in other days, which protects us in life, liberty and pursuit of happiness, which guarantees to us the opportunity to be what we are or ever hope to be.

Do we dare raise our voices in supplication to God, saying, may the world we make for others be better than the world they have made for us—So many people talk about their "rights." So few of their duties. So many people find fault with the government. So few are willing to give their time, thought and effort to bring about a better governmental order.

How much time do you give to the government? How many hours do you spend each day, week, month or year in the study of the problems of government, which are your problems? Suppose everyone else all down through the ages had given as little time ,what would be the condition of our government today.

The right to vote, the right to take a hand in politics is the most precious privilege of citizenship. That this right might exist men and women have struggled against tyranny through centuries of oppression until political emancipation has been achieved.

Our government is a government by party, your party has a right to expect your loyalty and support. Any political party can be made as good as the people who belong to it wish to make it. Have you resolved to do your duty in bringing your own political party to the highest level, of patriotism, integrity and efficiency. Let us stand on the record of the past and look with faith to the future, we know that this Republican representative form of government is the best government on earth. Let us give our best efforts to man it with intelligent, efficient and conscientious officers then laud it to the skies. It cannot fail.

Do you say that you have only one vote, that you can influence only a few people and that the little that you can do would amount to not much more than nothing. But it is the sum of such individual effort that counts in politics. Many thousands of others more alive to their duties and responsibilities are at work creating and organizing public sentiment as election day approaches. National, state and county, chairman and vice-chairman can do no more than direct this individual activity. If you believe something in politics, why should you not work for it between now and election day?

Why not give election day to your country, not simply by going to the polls and casting your own ballot, but urging others, to go early in the day. This will at least arouse them to a sense of their civic duty.

Election day is by far the most important of our patriotic holidays. Why not if it is at all possible for you to do so, give that day to your country and become a volunteer worker at the polls in behalf of these things which you believe to be for the best interests of your community and your country? Let us as citizens carry into the polling places only love of country and our convictions as to the best method of serving it. If we do this, most of the wrongs and abuses in politics and government of which people complain will quickly disappear.

Let us remember that the kind of men and women that were necessary to build this government will be necessary still to maintain it.

Army Engineer Talks To Rotary

Tells Of Possibilities Of Improving Waterways In Western Pennsylvania

Colonel Jarvis J. Blaine, United States army engineer at Pittsburgh, in charge of rivers and harbors, told the members of the New Castle Rotary Club in their weekly meeting today that the possibility of connecting the city of New Castle with the great inland water transportation system of both the Ohio and Mississippi rivers via Shenango and Beaver waterways might become a reality some day, as far as the engineer's standpoint is concerned.

Col. Blaine's headquarters are in Pittsburgh, where he has been centering his activities in developing the Allegheny, Monongahela and Ohio rivers.

"The federal government is taking great pains to improve our inland waterway system," continued the colonel, "and I see no reason why they will not improve the tributaries of the rivers that are now being improved." Blaine told the members that the tonnage of freight shipped yearly on the Monongahela river equals that of the Panama Canal figures and rises above those of the Suez canal. He explained the workings of the lock system that is being installed on the waterways now and cited the great improvements that have recently been made on the Ohio river.

Preceding Blaine's address the club made final arrangements for the Westminster banquet tonight. The club will be the guests of Dr. W. Charles Wallace, the president, and the members of his faculty at a dinner in "The Hillside" at 6:30 p. m. and to an informal program of entertainment following.

Many Former Students Back At Westminster For Annual Event

SPECIAL AWARDS MADE AT MEETING

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 29—Westminster experienced one of the most enthusiastic homecomings here Saturday in recent years. Despite the weather, a large host of alumni and former students returned to the college and were treated to a football victory, a cross-country victory and a most enjoyable party in the gymnasium to cap the climax.

Starting with a special chapel service Saturday morning the day was full of activity and enthusiasm for all concerned. President W. Charles Wallace welcomed the alumni at the special chapel service, outlined the inspection tour of the new buildings with the aid of charts and architect's drawings and then officiated to presentation ceremonies at which track and tennis letters were awarded for last spring's participation.

Make Awards.

Fourth year awards of silver loving cups were made to Francis McDowell and Paul Gibson, both graduated in June, for participation in varsity tennis; and to William Hartwell, captain for fourth-year participation in track.

Third year awards, consisting of gold emblems were made to Walter Hutchison and Orville Mirtz in track and to Richard Robinson in tennis. Three sweaters were awarded tennis players, William Schafer and James McQuiston receiving sweaters bearing two stripes indicative of second-year award and Joseph Dennison, manager, receiving the same sort in recognition of his second year as manager of tennis.

For track participation Henry Bucher and Kenneth Delahunty, received sweaters bearing two stripes, while William Crowell, Louis Pereenyi, Kenneth Hemer, Robert Bucher, Elmer Myers, Samuel Stewart, Deane Osborne and Russell Boone each received a sweater indicative of first-year award. Clare Swisher, manager of the track team also received a sweater.

Alumni Have Dinner.

Following the chapel service alumni and former students dined at a special dinner in the United Presbyterian church. This meeting was followed by a tour of inspection of the new building now nearing completion. Guides of students and Boy Scouts of town made this tour of information and interest.

The cross-country race started at 1:45, finishing just before the kick-off of the football game. Fully 2,500 people crowded the field and stayed until the end of the game despite the fact that rain fell throughout the entire afternoon.

Party in Gym.

The day was even more successful as far as alumni and students were concerned with the party held in the college gymnasium Saturday evening from 9 until 11:30. This function under the direction of the New Wilmington chapter of the alumni had as faculty manager Professor J. George Lutz. Members of the faculty acted as chaperons headed by Dr. and Mrs. W. Charles Wallace, Dean Charles Freeman and Mrs. C. B. Robertson, dean of women.

Speeches, music, a program of singing, refreshments and dancing made the affair one of the best in years.

Imemdiately following the game many fraternities and sororities held dinners in honor of visiting alumni. Reunions in the fraternity houses took on the aspect of "remember back in 1912," etc., etc. Robert Audley Browne hall, new residence for men was open for inspection all day. Many visitors availed themselves of the opportunity to go through the building.

Plan For Annual Hallowe'en Party At Henry Home

Preparations for the annual Hallowe'en entertainment at the Margaret L. Henry home for children, Friendship street, are under way at the present time. It is expected that the party this year will exceed previous celebrations that the children have participated in, under supervision of officials at the home.

According to Miss Margaret Henry, superintendent, the fairy god-father of the boys and girls, is planning to treat the boys and girls with nuts, candy, false faces and all such paraphernalia that is necessary to make the event a success. Their kind friend has contributed much toward the success of past celebrations.

It is likely that the children will journey downtown in a group to witness the mummers' parade after the conclusion of the party at the home.

High School Band May Play Under Marine Band Head

Likely That Local School Band Will Receive Honor On November 12

It is quite possible that the Senior high school band and orchestra will play under the direction of Captain Taylor Branson when the famous United States Marine Band comes to New Castle on November 12.

The local high school band and orchestra have had the distinction of playing under many famous conductors among whom have been John Philip Sousa, the venerable "March King," William F. Santelmann, retired conductor of the Marine band, Henri Verbrugghen, conductor of the Minneapolis orchestra, and Lieutenant Benter and Captain Stannard, conductors of the Navy and Army bands respectively.

After the contest of the North Western Pennsylvania Inter-scholastic Musical Organizations held at Grove City on May 3rd of this year an editorial appearing in the Grove City Herald-Reporter attributed the unquestioned supremacy of the New Castle Band and Orchestra to the fact that the students in the New Castle schools had been having special opportunities to hear great bands, orchestras and musical artists of all kinds and therefor had a background of musical experience which gave them the edge over their competitors. Whether the deductions of the Grove City paper were sound or not might be questioned but it is a singular fact that the schools of Lawrence county have also been sharing in these musical experiences with the New Castle schools and while New Castle won the Class A Contest at Grove City, Bessemer, another Lawrence county school won first honors in the Class B contest.

At least there can be no doubt but that the experience of playing under the baton of distinguished conductors has served to spur the students of our New Castle high school band and orchestra to do their best, and has given them the inspiration which has often lightened the dull routine of monotonous but necessary practice. Without question, such experiences are of value to the community as well as the students and it is to be hoped that either the band or the orchestra, if not both, may have the honor of playing under Captain Branson's baton when he comes here November 12th.

It's still possible to find pay dirt. Little Willie get a nickel for washing his neck.

Millions of Families Depend on Dr. Caldwell's Prescription

When Dr. Caldwell started to practice medicine, back in 1875, the needs for a laxative were not as great as they are today. People lived normal, quiet lives, ate plain, wholesome food, and got plenty of fresh air and sunshine. But even that early there were drastic physics and purges for the relief of constipation which Dr. Caldwell did not believe were good for human beings to put into their systems. So he wrote a prescription for a laxative to be used by his patients.

The prescription for constipation that he used early in his practice, and which he put in drug stores in 1892 under the name of Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, is a liquid vegetable remedy, intended for women, children and elderly people, and they need just such a mild, safe, gentle bowel stimulant as Syrup Pepsin.

Under successful management this prescription has proven its worth and is now the largest selling liquid laxative in the world. The fact that millions of bottles are used a year proves that it has won the confidence of people who needed it to get relief from headaches, biliousness, flatulence, indigestion, loss of appetite and sleep, bad breath, dyspepsia, colds and fevers.

Millions of families are now never without Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin, and if you will once start using it you will also always have a bottle handy for emergencies.

It is particularly pleasing to know that the most of it is bought by mothers for themselves and the children, though Syrup Pepsin is just as valuable for elderly people. All drug stores have the generous bottles. Or, to prove at our expense how much Dr. Caldwell's Syrup Pepsin can mean to you and yours, use this special coupon:

Our Own Fred Schuller Bests That German Cop In Linguistic Versatility

That traffic cop in Berlin, who evidently thought that he held the world record when he announced that he could speak ten languages, including his own native language, will have to look elsewhere for his laurels than in this city at least.

Fred Schuller, who has been doing traffic duty at East and East Washington street for years, has at least 10 languages at his command and can get along fairly well in some few others languages, especially when it is a matter of giving directions to motorists.

He can converse freely and successfully in Saxon, German, Roumanian, Hungarian, Slavish, English, Russian, Polish, Bulgarian and Italian.

Therefore the stranger within our gates and speaking one of the foreign names mentioned, will be able to converse with Officer Schuller, and he is often required to resort to some one of the languages in order to tell people the time of day, the proper direction in which to go, especially to the postoffice, some bank or other public institution.

In fact, Officer Schuller is so proficient along these lines that he feels confident that he would be put on the Berlin force at once should he be able to get in touch with President Hindenberg of the German republic.

Ellwood Plows Through Mud To Victory Over Farrell Team

Score Of 6-0 Was Made In Last Quarter Of Interesting Contest Saturday

Big Bill King Plays Fine Game And Scores Only Touchdown Of Day

ELLWOOD CITY, Oct. 29.—Playing in a field of mud, Ellwood City High's gridders proved to be better mud divers by defeating the Farrell aggregation on their own field by the close score of 6-0. Smarting under the defeat received at the hands of Beaver Falls recently, the blue and white were determined to win, and only this spirit enabled them to pierce the opponent's line.

From the first minute of play one could easily see that the contest was to be a close one. The first and second quarters were spent in a punting duel, but neither team threatened to cross the goal line. Due to the wet weather and condition of the field it was a difficult problem for the teams to hold the slippery pigskin.

In the last few minutes of the third period the Tubers began their march to triumph. Bill King started the fireworks with a pretty 35-yard run. Segadi advanced the oval to a short distance from the scoring line, but a halt was put to the march as the third quarter came to an end.

With the ball only an inch from the enemy's goal Bill King put the finishing touches to the works by crossing the line in the first few seconds of the fourth period. In an attempt to kick over Fanno was deprived of kicking when the ball was fumbled before he could boot it.

Another attempt was made by the blue and white to cross the opponent's goal line a few minutes later when King again ripped off a pretty run, taking the pigskin a short distance from the rally point. With the ball on the 10-yard line Farrell tightened up and held the Tubers to four downs, as a pass in the last chance failed, giving the foe the ball. Taking the ball from this point, Farrell started a march down the field, but it was too late, as the sound of the whistle brought a halt to the proceedings.

Justine and Duncan, two of Ellwood's most valuable men, were absent from the line-up in the contest. The former, who was just rounding into shape from an injurey received in the Zelienople game, received a hard jolt in scrimmage Wednesday and was unable to play Saturday. Duncan is said to have quit school, but no definite report has as yet been received. He was acting as captain this season.

Farrell High presented a husky eleven against the blue and white, giving a good account of themselves throughout the fray. Hyatt, negro flash, was the outstanding performer for the foe and was a continuous menace to the Leemen. The foe outweighed Ellwood by a great margin.

Bill King was the big gun of the day, scoring the only tally after carrying the ball 35 yards, placing it within 10 yards of the goal. Segadi advanced it an inch from the line, with King taking it over on the next play. Time after time Ellwood's husky fullback skirted the ends for nice gains. Dickie Freidoff showed up well when he substituted for Steve Lawrence. This little lad and his runningmate, Segadi, deserve much credit for the Tubers' well-earned victory.

Things looked dark for Ellwood's aggregation as they began the contest, but after holding the opponents for two quarters they decided to take matters into their own hands. This defeat was somewhat a damper on Farrell's "home-coming" program. Fans were not disappointed in the fierce struggle put up by both elevens. Ellwood's victory came as a surprise to most local fans, as Farrell was considered a favorite in this contest.

A real test will face Lee's warriors next Saturday, when they clash with the strong Aliquippa eleven here. An advantage favors Ellwood for the remainder of the season, as all the coming games are to be played at home. Aliquippa received a shock Saturday when Beaver played a scoreless tie against them. Most of the valley towns have a strong squad and the Tubers have three more to play following the Aliquippa contest.

It is hoped that by next Saturday Lee will have every man rounded into first-class condition for the battle.

New Castle And Washington Deadlocked 0-0

Washington Team Proves Tartar In Thrilling Contest

New Castle High School Football Team Fights Hard, But Is Unable To Score; Washington High Represented By Fine Eleven; Locals Make Courageous Stand On Half-Foot Line; Drizzle Of Rain Mars Play To Great Extent; Anderson Stages Longest Run Of Game; Monster Crowd Jams College Field To View Classic

By "BUGS" WALTHER

TWO of the finest schoolboy football teams in western Pennsylvania, New Castle and Washington, battled to a scoreless tie at College Field, Washington, Pa., on Saturday afternoon. It rained during the entire game.

As a result of the deadlocked contest both teams were automatically eliminated from championship consideration by the W. P. I. A. L. committee. It was a game that kept every spectator in the immense crowd on edge until the final whistle announced that the conflict was a no-decision battle.

Both teams had chances to score touchdowns and failed at critical times. Washington High had a little on New Castle in regard to "coming close", because in the second period Anderson broke away for a run at right tackle that netted him 45 yards and placed the ball on the New Castle one-yard line. Four terrific line plays by the Washington backfield were stopped by New Castle's heroic defense, the ball resting on the half-foot line, and New Castle was given the ball on downs. New Castle's stand was a most courageous one.

Twice New Castle stood in a scoring position. In the first quarter the red and black warriors rushed the ball to the 17-yard line, but lost it on downs.

In the closing moments of the game New Castle had the ball on the Washington 12-yard line, but failed to negotiate the coveted distance, a forward pass fail and New Castle lost the ball, also a chance to push over a touchdown.

Eleven First Downs

By accurate check New Castle High tallied eleven first downs to six for Washington, showing that in the matter of gaining yardage New Castle was slightly superior. Washington High outpassed the locals, New Castle heaved four passes that were incomplete, while the "Little Presidents" tried seven passes and made three of them good. New Castle was penalized a total of 60-yards and Washington drew but 10-yards via violation of the rules.

It was a great football struggle, and both teams deserve plenty of credit for the fine manner in which they executed or tried to pull every trick in the bag, but it seemed as if "fooler's" wouldn't work. For the biggest part of the game both teams resorted to straight football.

Two Fine Teams

Two very tired and nearly exhausted football machines strode off the field at the end of the game. It is really a shame that a pair of grid-iron combination the likes of New Castle and Washington must be dropped from the pinnacle in the league.

Had the day been anywhere near perfect in regard to weather, it might have been a different story. A drizzle of rain continued the entire time the two teams were on the field. The field was soggy and slippery and fast running backfield men found the footing rather precarious. The only long run of the game was made by Anderson, the big Washington fullback for 45-yards at right tackle about the middle of the second quarter.

Line Play Features

When it comes to dishing out laurels for the game played Saturday, the linemen of both teams deserve the "wreath". The New Castle linemen with their backs to the wall in the second period, and with Washington only about a half-foot away from a touchdown put up one of the most stubborn resistences seen at College Field or any other field this year. Four times the burly Washington backfield men battered at the center of the New Castle line, and New Castle was not pushed back very many feet in the four attempts. Cuba the New Castle left tackle was just a little nervous as he stood back of the New Castle goal line and prepared to kick the ball out of danger, but the pass from Ciccone was true and Cuba got away a fine punt that sent the ball into mid-field.

Washington High really appeared beaten when they failed to score a touchdown with the chalked line but touching distance away. It was a dogged effort on the part of the Coach "Hank" Day outfit, but they were not quite equal to the task.

The Washington High line stood out quite prominently on the two occasions that New Castle struck so near the goal-line. In the first period of the game the New Castle team took the ball down the field to the 17-yard line but met with a fighting Washington team and lost the ball on downs.

Again in the final quarter of play with New Castle on the way to a touchdown, the Washington linemen displayed plenty of fight, and held Harper and McAuley from galloping over the last chalked line.

The New Castle backfield at the beginning of the game composed of Sillman, McAuley, DiCarbo and Harper performed brilliantly. Harper and Sillman were used to punch the line, and McAuley picked up many yards by skirting the ends and tackles. With Fernati in the game the New Castle backfield had plenty of speed. Sillman during his presence in the battle made quite a number of yards.

"Tommy" Harper had the longest run of the game for the New Castle team, a 25-yard jaunt through right tackle early in the first quarter. The Washington ball carriers displayed fine power when given a chance to crack the New Castle line. Irwin and Anderson stood out quite prominently. Irwin's returns of a number of punts and his line plunging was a bright spot in the Washington offense. Anderson was the "speed merchant" of the Washington team.

Lewis and Goodridge played good football at the terminals for the Washington team.

Very Few Subs

Coaches Bridenbaugh and Day started the game with their strongest lineups on the field. New Castle used two substitutes during the fray. Fernati and Shaffer both backfield men. Shaffer relieved both DiCarbo and Sillman at various times. DiCarbo was used to replace Howley at left guard for New Castle. Washington High utilized three substitutes, Murphy, Bertram and Griest. All three of the "Little Presidents" substitutes were linemen.

A crowd of close to 8,000 jammed their way into College Field to witness the schoolboy classic, and were rewarded by seeing one of the best High school grid games ever played in Washington.

New Castle's delegation numbered around 2,000. The New Castle supporters had one entire side of the field to themselves. The highways leading into Washington were crowded all morning with automobiles carrying enthusiastic fans to the grid feast. The New Castle special train pulled into Washington at 12:40 o'clock and carried over 100 students and fans.

The High school bands of both schools, and a fife and drum corp from Washington furnished the music for the occasion. Between halves the entire three bands strode upon the field and took turns at renditions.

Westminster Wins Over Thiel Team 7-0; In Homecoming Game

Lauder Carries Ball Over Goal Line For Only Touchdown Of Game

Drizzling Rain Falls During Contest At New Wilmington Saturday

(Special To The News)

NEW WILMINGTON, Pa., Oct. 29—After losing four games in a row, Coach "Dike" Beede's Westminster college grid team rose to heights here Saturday and before an enthusiastic homecoming crowd wallowed in mud and mire to defeat Thiel college by a 7-0 score.

To "Jimmy" Lauder, captain last year, goes the credit of victory, and the Elizabeth lad deserves the plaudits which he received. On the sidelines all week as a result of injuries sustained in the Grove City game two weeks ago, Lauder was not expected to start. But when the teams trotted out, he was in his right halfback position, a bundle of bandages and tape and also a bundle of determination and grit which could not be denied.

Costly Victory.

While the victory was opportune with many alumni and former students braving the rain and mud to see it, it was a costly one. After his exhibition of grit which accounted for Westminster's touchdown, Lauder was carried from the field. Dible, brilliant halfback, had his shoulder dislocated in the first period. Forsha, considered the best end in the tri-state district, was clipped out during the fourth period, resulting in internal injuries. It is thought that these men will be unable to play for at least three weeks.

The United Presbyterians clearly outplayed the visitors, making nine first downs to five. Westminster backs and ends carried the ball a total of 189 yards during the game, while the Thiel ball toters made but 118 yards. McQuiston had the edge on Captain Berkman in punting, and for this reason the ball was kept at midfield or in Thiel's territory a little more than half of the game. Westminster gaining from 15 to 20 yards on each exchange of punts.

Thiel received six penalties for a loss of 30 yards, while the Westminster players were penalized four times to total 30 yards. In the matter of forward passes, Thiel was a little more successful than Westminster, but the overhead game was not resorted to much due to the slippery and muddy ball which was hard to handle.

First Period.

McQuiston kicked off to Mitchell, who was downed on the Thiel 30-yard line. Mitchell picked up nine yards and Shilling carried the ball two more to register a first down. Berkman added six yards, but on the next play Havrilla broke through and threw Mitchell for a yard loss. Unable to gain, Berkman punted to Dible on the Westminster 7-yard line. McQuiston returned the punt, the ball traveling to the Thiel 20-yard mark, but Berkman carried it to the 32-yard line before he was stopped. Myers was stopped at the line. Shilling made four yards, Berkman was stopped, and then Berkman punted to Dible on the Westminster 20. Dible carrying it 12 yards before he was stopped. Dible made 17 yards, but the ball was called back because both teams were off-side. Dible made five yards and Thiel was penalized five for off-side.

Lauder made four through the line, but Thiel was again off-side and suffered a five-yard penalty. Dible picked up a yard. On the next play Dible fumbled and Latimore recovered for Thiel. Here the Lutherans made a valiant advance, but were soon stopped. Mitchell, Shilling and Berkman made 17 yards, but Berkman was forced to punt after two passes were incomplete.

Westminster started on a rampage at this point, Lauder, Dible and Havrilla making 38 yards in seven attempts. Dible made one yard more, but was hurt in the play. McQuiston's pass to Palmer, who replaced Dible, was incomplete. McQuiston punted to Berkman on the Thiel 5-yard line and he was downed in his tracks. Berkman elected to return the punt, but the ball sailed out of bounds on the Thiel 41-yard line. On three attempts, Palmer made but two yards, so McQuistcn was forced to punt again, the ball going over the goal line. Thiel took possession of the oval on the 20-yard mark, and Berkman punted out of bounds at midfield.

Palmer, on a double pass, made 11 yards, but the ball was called back as both teams were off-side. Another double pass Palmer netted five yards, and then Lauder picked up four more as the first quarter ended.

Second Period.

McQuiston, playing with a stiff neck, disregarded his injury and bucked the line for a two-yard gain to make a first down as the second period opened. Palmer added four yards, and then lost three. McQuiston tossed a pass to Forsha for a gain of 16 yards, placing the ball on the Thiel 21-yard line. Palmer added four yards in two attempts, and Thiel was off-side on the next play so Westminster had a first down on the Thiel 13-yard line. McQuiston passed over the line to Furno, but officials ruled the pass incomplete, so Thiel took possession of the ball on the 20-yard line.

After Myers made two yards, Berkman punted to McQuiston on the Westminster 49-yard line. Palmer made seven yards around end. McQuiston added eight yards through the line, Palmer made five more, and then Garthwaite intercepted McQuiston's pass and it was Thiel's ball on the Lutheran 40-yard line. On the first play the Thiel forwards were holding so were penalized 15 yards. Berkman punted to McQuiston on the Westminster 39-yard line, and the Westminster quarter carried it to the 44-yard mark before he was stopped. Havrilla drove out of bounds for a two-yard gain, McQuiston added a yard, McQuiston's forward was incomplete and the Westminster quarterback punted to Berkman on the Thiel 24-yard line. Berkman returned the kick, the ball traveling to the Westminster 45-yard line.

Palmer fumbled a low pass and Shilling recovered for Thiel. Berkman made two yards, and then the Thiel leader passed to Myers for a six-yard gain. Berkman's next pass was incomplete. Shilling made five yards and a first down as the half ended. Score: Westminster 0, Thiel 0.

Westminster Scores.

McQuiston kicked off to Leonard to start the second half, the ball being downed on the Lutheran 41-yard mark. After three unsuccessful thrusts at the line, Berkman punted to the Westminster 30-yard line. Palmer made four yards in two attempts, Lauder pounded the line for seven yards and Havrilla added three more. Palmer, on a double pass, lost three, but on the next play picked up six. McQuiston punted to Berkman on the Thiel 25-yard mark. Shilling was thrown for a yard loss.

Here Berkman was forced to punt, but the fast-stepping "Chappie" Boone, Westminster center, raced in and blocked the punt. Tweedy, right end, scooping it up and racing to the Thiel 3-yard line before he was downed by Myers. Lauder made a yard at the line, McQuiston added another yard off tackle, and then "Jimmie" Lauder bucked the ball over for a touchdown. It was Lauder's first touchdown in his four years of football at Westminster, his position as right halfback calling for interference and defensive work and no ball carrying. To make the score even more impressive "Jimmie" McQuiston stood in a puddle of water and drop-kicked the ball between the bars for the extra point.

McQuiston kicked off to Shilling on the Thiel 29-yard line. A bad pass from center was recovered by Berkman on the Thiel 14-yard line. Berkman punted to McQuiston at midfield. McQuiston picked up four yards thru the line. Westminster was then penalized five yards for delaying. Palmer added two yards, and then lost one on a double pass. McQuiston punted out of bounds on the Thiel 15-yard line. Berkman punted to McQuiston on the Westminster 45-yard line. Lauder hit off tackle, but was hurt and was replaced by Campbell. Havrilla weaved through for four yards. Westminster was penalized 15 yards for holding. McQuiston punted to the Thiel 35-yard line. Havrilla was hurt and was replaced by Michaels. Morris made six yards and Shilling added three as the quarter ended. Score: Westminster 7, Thiel 0.

Last Period.

Thiel took the ball on the Lutheran 49-yard line. Berkman punted to the one-yard line. McQuiston punted to the Thiel 35-yard line. Berkman made two, his pass was incomplete, and his second pass was knocked down by Boone, Westminster center, as soon as it left his hands. Berkman punted out of bounds on the Westminster 22-yard line. Palmer lost three, Campbell made four, and then McQuiston punted to the Thiel 43-yard line. Forsha was hurt on the play and was replaced by Crowell. Morris made two, Berkman's pass was incomplete, Berkman was thrown for a yard loss, and then Berkman punted to McQuiston on the 23-yard line. McQuiston returned the punt, the ball

Wilmington High Defeats Mercer

New Wilmington High Gridders Topple Mercer, 19 To 0 In Fine Contest

EAGLESON PROVES STAR OF BATTLE

NEW WILMINGTON, Oct. 29—In a game featured by the 60-yard run for a touchdown by Eagleson, the diminutive New Wilmington halfback, the college town eleven scored a 19-0 win over Mercer high school on the college field here Saturday afternoon. The game was played as a preliminary to the Westminster-Thiel contest.

Except for a rally here and there and a successful passing attack in the final period, the Kelly-coached Mercer machine failed to show any form. Patterson kicked off to Mercer to start the game, but the county seat team soon lost the ball on downs. Shortly after a few minutes of even playing in midfield New Wilmington started on a drive down the field which ended only when Neal went through tackle to score the first touchdown of the fray. Davis kicked the ball between the goal posts to score the extra point.

Mercer Team Rallies

Patterson kicked off again and Mercer brought the ball to midfield, when it was again lost on downs. With Davis and Eagleson making a total of 25 yards around the ends, it looked like another score for the college eleven, but Mercer rallied and held the local eleven until the end of the first half.

Mercer received to open the third period, but again failed to gain and lost the ball on downs. New Wilmington opened up another "big

Thiel Runners Lose To Westminster In Saturday Contest

Nine Of First Ten To Finish Race Are Westminster Runners

(Special To The News)

The summary:

Westminster	1 3 4 5 6—19

The London Humorist tells of a doctor who, finding it necessary to punish his young son, asked him whether he had anything to say for himself, whereupon the modern lad asked. "How about a little local anaesthetic?" Following that idea would evolve the concrete illustration of the old saying, "This hurts me more than it does you."

New Castle-Washington Deadlock Play By Play

The Washington High team strode on the field at exactly 2:22 o'clock and the New Castle team appeared at 2:29 o'clock. There was little time for both teams to run through signals and do a little practice kicking.

The officials called Acting Captain "Tommy" Harper of New Castle and Captain Weaver of the Washington team together for the toss of the coin. Harper won the toss and elected to receive at the southern goal.

First Period

Irwin kicked off for Washington to Harper, who returned to the 23-yard line. On a double pass McAuley to Sillman around right end gained 3 yards. Washington was penalized five yards for offside. Harper gained through right tackle. McAuley got five yards at Washington's left end. Harper got four more at left end.

Sillman made a first down through left guard, placing the ball on Washington's 33-yard line. New Castle was penalized five yards for offside. A triple pass, Harper to Sillman to McAuley, gained four yards at Washington's right tackle. Sillman got two more at left guard. McAuley was stopped at the line for no gain. Washington was penalized five yards for offside. Sillman made a first down on Washington's 21-yard line.

On the next play Harper made three yards at center. Harper got two more at center. A forward pass, McAuley to Craft was incomplete. Harper failed at the line, and Washington took the ball on downs on their own 17-yard line.

Irwin got seven yards at right end. On the next play Irwin fumbled for a loss of eight yards. Bessemer High School Defeats Trade School On Saturday 25 To 7

Playing on a muddy field combined with a drizzle of rain, the Bessemer High eleven defeated the New Castle Trade School team by a score of 25 to 7 on Saturday afternoon at the Franklin field. Grist, the lanky Bessemer half back proved his worth by scoring three touchdowns one by plunging through the opponents line and the remaining two by intercepting two passes and racing 65 and 55 yards respectively.

The Bessemer crew scored in the first five minutes of play when the Traders lost the pigskin on downs. At this point the visitors made a grand march to the goal. Bessemer received the ball on the 47 yard line. McCurdy made first down by plunging through the line and after Grist gained 5 yards they fumbled and lost yardage. They were forced to punt and the Traders were stopped on the 3 yard line. The Trade school returned the punt and the Bessemer team placed the ball on the 20 yard line. At this point Shrefler and McCurdy brought the oval to the 8 yard line where Grist plunged through for the first touchdown of the game. Grist failed for the extra point. Score Bessemer 6, Trade school 0.

The invaders scored again in the second quarter when Bessemer received the ball on the 40 yard line and marched straight for goal without much trouble. McCurdy plunged through for a gain of 6 yards and Grist on the next play made first down. McCurdy again broke through the line by scoring another first down. With the ball on the 12 yard line Shrefler slid off tackle and placed the pigskin on the 7 yards line. Shrefler plunged through the Traders and made first down and with the ball on the 3 yard line McCurdy crashed through for the second touchdown of the game. A pass Grist to Shefler added another point for the Bessemer team. Score: Bessemer 13, Trade school 0.

The visitors lost a very good opportunity to score in the same quarter when the Trade school kicked in midfield and Grist was stopped on the 14 yard line. A pass Grist to Shrefler placed the oval shape on the 9 yard line. The quarter was nearly over and McCurdy made first down placing the ball on the 3 yard line. McCurdy attempted to plunge through for another touchdown but failed only by something like four inches as the half ended.

The Bessemer eleven crossed the opponent's line in the third quarter twice for 12 points. The two touchdowns were scored by Grist. The fast left half back intercepted two passes and raced 65 and 55 yards for the touchdowns. The visitors failed to add the extra points.

The last quarter found the Trade school team playing very tight and held the visitors scoreless while they crossed the visitors goal.

The Trade school team attempted a pass which was a little too long and was intercepted by Shrefler where he was tackled on the five yard line. The Bessemer team tried to punt but it was blocked by Flynn, the large tackle who got the pigskin in his arms over the goal. The Traders scored the extra point on an end run by Richards. The game ended with the ball on the Trade school's 10 yard line.

The Bessemer team scored a total of seven first downs to one for the Trade school team. The visitors showed a very good exhibition of tackling. Only one of the Traders was fortunate in getting away for a gain of 18 yards as the remaining gains were not over seven or eight yards. For the Bessemer team the playing of Grist, McCurdy, and Shrefler featured while DiMuccio and Richards were the best for the Trade school team.

More Upsets In Saturday Games

Navy Pulls Surprise In Defeat Of Penn; Geneva Upsets Duquesne

There are lots of things that can be explained, more that can be alibied, and still more that are understood. But football on Saturday would hardly come under the heading of any of these. Just why some things happen and why others failed to materialize is one of those mysteries that thrill the producers of such plays as "The Bat."

Like Old Ben Adheim, some one's name has to lead the rest and Navy leads them all. If any scholar in the class can give one succinct, lucid reason why the Navy defeated University of Pennsylvania, 6-0, the same scholar can tell us the current price of plaid vests in Java. As the matter stands today, you can draw comparisons that would have an alienist cutting paper dolls.

Here's A Few

Fr instance. Davis-Elkins defeated Navy and West Virginia. Navy defeated Pennsylvania, West Virginia defeated Pitt and Lafayette. John Carroll defeated Davis-Elkins and Grove City defeated John Carroll. All of which proves, does it not, that Grove City is better than Pennsylvania, Navy and the rest of them. Quite clear isn't it?

Those of us who follow local football with the same zest that we follow the dinner horn are delighted at Westminster's win on Saturday. The Blue and White hung a 6-0 shiner on Thiel and there's nothing of a moral victory about that.

As for New Castle and Washington high school game, it would have served as an example of football for Fielding H. Yost, Alonzo Stagg and Knute Rockne. Neither side need be ashamed of that 0-0 tie.

Grove City upset Allegheny rather handily, the score being 13-7. Carnegie Tech expected a full meal of touchdowns against Pitt and was lucky to get a light lunch of one.

Boyle Here For Davies-McCoy Bout Tonight

Battlers Ready To Answer Gong

Import Referee And Judges To Officiate At Jolly Bowl

BELMONT AND PECK TO BOX SEMI-FINAL

By ED. FRITZ
(Sports Editor)

Is Willie Davies, the Charleroi marvel to meet a Wellington when he tosses punches with Johnny McCoy, Buffalo, at Jolly bowl tonight? This is a question perturbing fans and when the flyweights meet in a bout listed for 10 chapters, their every move will be eyed closely by Harvey J. Boyle, one of Pennsylvania's three commissioners of boxing. The referee and judges will be from points other than this city.

Davies and McCoy, flyweights, are rated high in the annals of professional pugilism and one punch is apt to "make or break" either. Realizing this, the commissioner deemed it necessary to shake the soot of Pittsburgh from his boots and hie toward New Castle.

Stranger To Officials

Harvey has named the referee and judges but until they crawl into the ring, their identities will be withheld. In bringing them to this city he is not casting any reflection on local officials but as a move to show that a change hurts no one.

To be frank we've seen officials of boxing here and there, and many in Pennsylvania rings. We've seen them give decisions that did not meet approval though they were right in their awards and again we have seen some verdicts handed out that were merely honest errors.

However, there has been an idea prevalent here that Bill Jolly has had the say concerning officials. This is an erroneous belief. Jolly has nothing to do but book fighters and pay all the bills. If there is a profit he pockets that the same as the loss.

Sunday Versus St. John

Relative to the fistic principals, Davies and McCoy have class McCoy can punch harder than Davies but he is not as fast nor as cunning and it would not surprise us were the Charleroi marvel to win over his more husky opponent.

There will be one disappointment tonight as Chet Smallwood cannot go into the ring. He fought Friday night in Youngstown and sustained a bad gash over an eye. Frankie Sunday of Akron, who milled with Frankie Rio sometime ago will substitute against Al St. John.

The foregoing bout will precede the six round semi-final in which Jimmie Belmont, Braddock and George Peck, Pittsburgh are to massage each other with every kind of a punch known in their repetoire.

Davy Davies, a brother to elusive Willie and Andy Novak, the latter of Turtle Creek, will fight the second four round fast and furious while Elmo The Mighty, husky jowled son o' swat will take on Dave Carter, Charleroi, a fast and clever light-heavyweight.

It is sincerely hoped that the fans who attend the bout tonight leave their "Boo" outside the arena. To be frank the attendance of many persons has fallen off since this form of razzing sprung into existence. The first bout will start at 8:15 p. m.

WESTMINSTER WINS OVER THIEL TEAM, 7-0

traveling to the Thiel 36-yard line. Berkman's pass to Shilling netted seven yards. Another pass, Berkman to Shilling, made four yards and first down. Sturner was thrown for a yard loss. Berkman punted to McQuiston on the Westminster 40-yard line. McQuiston punted to the Thiel 32-yard line. Berkman made seven yards, and a pass, Berkman to Morris, netted 11 yards and first down. Berkman made six yards and Shilling added another. Sturner made three more and first down. Berkman's pass was incomplete, but his next pass to Morris was good. Thiel failed to make the down by inches, so Westminster took the ball and McQuiston punted to Berkman on the Thiel 30-yard line. Pipoly intercepted Shilling's forward on the Thiel 47-yard line. McQuiston's punt was blocked on the Thiel 43-yard line. Michaels intercepted Morris' pass and raced to the Thiel 40-yard line. Palmer made 16 yards, but the ball was called back as both teams were off-side. Campbell cracked the line for five yards as the game ended.

For Westminster, the outstanding players were Havrilla at full, Lauder at half, Forsha and Tweedy at end and "Chappie" Boone at center. In fact, the whole Westminster outfit played smart football throughout and were always on the alert. For Thiel, Captain Berkman stood out as one of the best backs in the whole district. Dimperio, tackle, was undoubtedly one of the best linesmen seen here this year. Myers, Shilling and Mitchell also played well for the Lutherans.

Palmer, stripling halfback on the Westminster team, carried the ball 12 times to gain 46 yards. Dible, who played but part of the first quarter, carried the pigskin eight times to chalk up 35 yards. Lauder, with leg and body injuries holding him back, carried the ball eight times for a gain of 32 yards. Shilling was the big ground gainer for Thiel, his 11 attempts netting 38 yards, while Berkman, who played the best all-around game, carried the oval but six times to gain 37 yards.

The lineups:

Westminster 7		Thiel 0
Forsha	L. E.	Shilling

Penn's Leaders

By Fog Murray

I am wondering how many games Penn is going to lose this year—if any. After seeing the Quakers polish off the Nittany Lions of Penn State recently, your correspondent is of the opinion that Coach Lou Young has a real good team at Franklin Field but than it would have to be good to go through a schedule that called for successive games with Penn State, Navy, Chicago, Harvard, Columbia and Cornell without a defeat. Of course the Red and Blue Juggernaut hasn't taken any such triumphal tour yet not by a Quaker hat full!

The Penn team appeared to have three very good backs in Captain Paul Scull, the drop-kicking star; Halfback Paul Murphy and Quarterback Jack Shober, a fair line with Utz, Ball and Smith looking the best. And a nifty assortment of hidden-ball locus pocus that will synchronize better as the season wears on.

Captain Paul Scull besides being a versatile kicker is alert on the defense and a consistent ground-gainer as a ball-carrier. His 70 yard dash through a broken field after intercepting a Penn State pass on October 20th was one of the features of the game. Little Paul Murphy proved a real star at plunging through the line and also at receiving passes and really was the hero of the game. Shober, too, proved a brainy quarterback and a talented ball carrier.

This is Louis Alonzo Young's sixth year as head coach at Penn. He played end and halfback as a student at the Quaker school and was captain during his senior year. Penn lost to Penn State, Chicago, the Navy and California last year.

Trader Horn, that famous old gridiron authority, evidently was talking about the 1928 Penn football team when he said "The Quakers, Ma'am, I've always held above par."—Metropolitan Newspaper Service, New York City.

Weather Gets Cold During Past Week

Thermometer Registers 24 On Wednesday; 1.22 Inches Of Rain Fall

The weather this fall is continually getting colder, according to the reports of B. F. Johnson, observer at the weather station located at the City of New Castle Water company, who states that the average temperature for the week of October 21 was 43 degrees.

The coldest day of the week came on Wednesday, when the thermometer registered 24 degrees. Tuesday was the warmest day, when mercury rose to 73 degrees. During the week 1.22 inches of rain fell.

Ammunition Train Will Hold Reunion

The 308th Ammunition train of World War Fame, will hold its ninth annual reunion at Cleveland, O., on November 10. There are about one hundred members of the organization in this city and many of them are planning to attend the event. An interesting program has been arranged for the occasion. Any information desired by any members of the train concerning the reunion, can be obtained by getting in touch with Ivor Davis, at the New Castle Feed and Coal Company.

MORE UPSETS IN SATURDAY GAMES

still running a temperature over the feat of Geneva in turning back Duquesne 7-0, and the writer of this article extends a hearty vote of thanks to those disciples of Geneva who refused his money on Duquesne. It was tough for Elmer Layden but this is a tough year for football teams.

Now The Army

At the first of the year it appeared as though the Army would hardly be among the big boys barely nosing out Southwestern Methodist, but since then Christian Keener Cagle seems to have been on a diet of raw meat and third alarm fire. Dear old Yale took it standing up Saturday, losing to Army 18-6 and if this doesn't give the Cadets a right to expect consideration for national honors, taking their record as a whole, then there just 'aint" no justice.

Harvard will probably be the champion of two thirds of the Big Three this year. The Broad A lads took the big green from Dartmouth by the satisfying score of 19-7 and thus Dartmouth enters the list of those who tried.

Penn State has also been given a new set of monkey glands or else Hugo Bezdek is speaking right out in meeting for the Nittany Lion came within an ace of defeating Syracuse. They tied, 6-6. West Virginia further atoned for the defeat by Davis-Elkins at the opening of the season by walloping Lafayette 17-0.

Poor Old Mich

Weep a tear for Michigan. This just isn't their year and the boys aren't doing right by her. Wisconsin has nothing to write a telegram about in defeating the Yostmen by 7-0, but they won at any rate.

In looking over the best bets of the year, New York U. seems to be among those present. Chick Meehan's team is going strong this year and ran roughshod over Colgate 47-6, and when New York U meets Carnegie Tech in Pittsburgh the game is going to be one of the country's classics. For between the three of us, Carnegie Tech is there and thereabouts this season and Eggs Hoye can make the most of it.

Iowa removed Minnesota from the Big Ten honors by a 7-6 defeat, and Gettysburg turned miracle man for a day and defeated Bucknell 14-12. Amherst and Wesleyan played a 20-20 tie which is a weird score for a football game at best.

Notre Dame tasted blood in bucketsfull in the game against Drake by winning by a 32-6 score. Columbia defeated Valparaiso 6-0. Ohio State continued its streak by defeating Indiana 13-0 and Illinois triumphed over Northwestern 6-0. Washington and Jefferson tasted the bitter aloes of disaster against Fordham the score being 34-0, which to quote City Solicitor Bob White is "pretty awful."

Princeton squeezed through with a field goal against Cornell, winning 3-0. John Carroll had a safety against Davis-Elkins, winning 2-0, while Nebraska went be serk against Missouri and trounced the Show Me lads 24-0. Missouri was given an outside chance to win. The chance is still outside.

Temple defeated Providence 41-0 and while there were a lot of other scores Saturday, perhaps the supper is waiting and you should leave.

To conclude, it was a weird day. There are still a few contenders left among them New York U, Carnegie Tech, Army and perhaps a few others, including some of the mid-west and far west teams.

push" and carried the ball to the 10-yard line. After Davis made five yards around end, Neal rounded the same terminal for the second score of the game. Davis failed to kick over the extra point.

Eagleson Tallies

Near the end of the third quarter and the beginning of the fourth the teams battled evenly and staged a short punting duel. With the ball on his own 40-yard line Eagleson of the college town team made the most spectacular run of the game when he raced through a hole off tackle, eluded the Mercer secondary defense and sped up the left side of the field for a touchdown. Davis failed to make the extra point by place-kicking. Near the end of the game Mercer started a successful short passing attack but did not get near enough to threaten the local goal. The game ended with the ball on the Mercer 45-yard line.

The teamwork of the college town players, the open field running of Eagleson, the defensive work of Davis, the passing and kicking of Patterson and the plunging of Neal featured the play of the New Wilmington eleven. Montgomery and Stowe showed up well for Mercer.

The line-up:

N. Wilmington 19		Mercer 0
Lee	L. E.	Williams
C. Greer	L. T.	Amy
Klumph	L. G.	Sutton
Rose	C.	Richardson
N. Greer	R. G.	McCullough

Smith	R. E.	P. Masson
Neal (Capt)	Q. B.	Montgomery

Early Appointment Of Judge Expected

Believe Vacancy In Butler County Will Be Filled At Once By Governor

BUTLER, Pa., Oct. 29—Following the burial, Saturday, of Judge John R. Henninger, who died at his home in Butler Wednesday night, many persons in Butler county have turned their thoughts to his probable successor as president judge of Butler county.

James M. Galbreath and Aaron E. Reiber, both former judges of the county have been mentioned in connection with the appointment. The Butler County Bar Association has a number of other members who have been discussed as persons who would be receptive to the short-period appointment.

BRICKLAYERS PLEDGE POTTERS SUPPORT

At the regular meeting of the local union of Bricklayers held Friday evening in the Trades and Labor Assembly Hall, corner of North Mill and Washington streets, action was taken relative to the strike of the pottery workers at the Shenango Pottery. THE VOGUE FOR 1929 AND 1930 IS THE NEW LUXURY AND STYLE OF THE AIRMAN LIMITED

AMONG smart motor cars the Airman Limited has achieved impressive leadership in style and luxury. No other car presents so artistically the fundamentals of modern beauty because Franklin originated the modern trend in motor cars. Franklin has gained the praise of the artistic world by making simplicity extremely beautiful. First to interpret the modern taste, Franklin has introduced an absolutely new note in interior color, fabric, upholstery and appointments. In exterior appearance Franklin is far ahead. Such style features as high hood, elongated panelled grille, narrow radiator shell were first presented by Franklin.

A style leader! And also a performance leader. It is Franklin which holds the speed record from coast to coast and return and 5 hill-climb records up several of America's steepest and most hazardous peaks. These records dramatically establish the power, acceleration and efficiency of air-cooling and unquestionably prove Franklin the world's fastest road car.

A drive in this amazing car will immediately reveal new motor car enjoyment. You will have an absolutely new conception of a fine quality car.

N. Y. STOCKS

(International News Service)

NEW YORK, Oct. 29.—A buoyant market for the radio, oil, copper, mercantile and other speculative stocks at the beginning of trading today signalized the resumption of powerful buying by various interests. Large blocks of Kolster Radio and Radio Corporation were taken at record-breaking prices, Radio topping 240 for the first time and Kolster at 82½, completing a gain of about 25 points on the move. New forward movements were in progress in Sinclair and Jordan Motors, Macy, and other of last week's star performances. Western Union topped 200 for the first time.

The accumulation of week-end buying orders was heavy. Demand was again in evidence for the important mercantile stocks, on the assumption that the holiday business of the next two months will be the largest in the history of the country. Macy sold above 130 for the first time this year and the old favorites, Montgomery Ward and Sears Roebuck moved upward briskly in active trading.

The call loan rate was maintained at 7½ per cent.

ZEPPELIN LEAVES ON RETURN TRIP FROM LAKEHURST

trich. Her husband was not present. He had telephoned her "bon voyage from New York shortly before her departure."

"Not Worried"

"I'm not the least bit worried," she told International News Service, "You'll hear from me from Germany within three days. Dr. Eckener and his men will see to that."

Knute Eckener, the commander's handsome twenty-four-year-old son, was given a pleasant surprise when Miss Doris Horowitz, secretary to Joseph D. Jessel, one of the passengers, dashed up on the platform and without any ado planted a kiss full upon his lips.

Eckener blushed furiously but he returned the kiss.

Everything was in readiness to move the ship from the hangar where it had been berthed beside the Dirigible Los Angeles.

The ground crew of 260 men, sailors in blue uniforms with natty white caps, had assembled at the West End of the Hangar. Called them to the ship. They took their positions at the "spider" ropes which dangled from the dirigible. Other men removed the blocks from beneath the zeppelin.

Then the electrically propelled doors, weighing thousands of pounds, swung open at the end.

Dirigible Walks Out

Slowly the dirigible was walked out, stern first, through the east door.

The ship moved out backwards along a narrow railroad track, clearing the hangar at 12:33. She was walked directly for about 200 yards further.

Silhouetted against the moonlit sky, the 110 ton zeppelin sprawled out on her belly looked like some strange prehistoric creature. Slowly her nose was turned around to face in a southwesterly direction, and away from the hangar doors. Then, like some strange beast, she crawled along the grass.

The motors began to roar. The thirty men who were holding the bars surrounding the control cabin raised the dirigible above their heads. The ship gradually pointed her nose upwards.

A few minutes later she was high above the ground, her hull straightened out. Only a light breeze was blowing. Slowly the white cabin lights, the green lights on the starboard side and the red lights on the port side disappeared from view.

Passes Cape Cod

CHATHAM, Mass., Oct. 29.—Flying low and averaging a speed of better than sixty miles an hour, the huge air liner Grap Zeppelin passed the eastern tip of Cape Cod at 6:25 a. m. today and headed east—northeast over the open sea toward Halifax on its return trip from Lakehurst, N. J., to Friedrichshafen, Germany. The dirigible left Lakehurst at 1:54:-30 o'clock.

In a message to the shore here at 6:38 a. m., the zeppelin reported that it was heading east-northeast toward Halifax, "following the newfound route over Groessten." This was interpreted to mean that it was following the great circle route taken by Lindbergh.

This message indicated that Boston was to be denied a view of the giantress of the skies. But the inhabitants of half a dozen towns and islands along the Massachusetts coast obtained a glimpse of the dirigible. After passing over New York at 3:10 a. m., it was reported heard over Block Island, in Long Island sound, and then headed northeast over Watch Hill, R. I., and along the Massachusetts coast. It was sighted at 5:45 a. m., over the town of Edgartown, Mass. on the Island of Martha's vineyard; over Handkerchief lightship at 6:00 o'clock; over Monomoy Point at 6:10; and was off Chatham at 6:25.

Thirteen minutes after the zeppelin passed Cape Cod the radio marine station at Chatham, Mass., intercepted a wireless from the ship saying it would follow the "Newfoundland route over Groessten". This indicated it would follow the great circle, or the North Atlantic steamer lane, the same route taken by Col. Charles A. Lindbergh on his flight from New York to Paris.

A fishing trawler 100 miles off Cape Cod sighted the dirigible at 7:16 and reported her position to the shore.

Then a few minutes before 8 o'clock came a message from the Graf Zeppelin that she was "making a fast trip".

Eckener was steering over open sea after passing over Cape Cod. His course as indicated by his progress from New York to Chatham will lead him south of Nova Scotia and the zeppelin passengers may not sight land again on this side of the Atlantic.

Leap year is not getting much attention from eastern maidens, says a news report. Too much looking and not enough leaping, we take it.—The Seattle Daily Times.

Wampum Span May Be Ready By December 1

Painting And Concrete Laying Now Providing Work For Men At Bridge

WEATHER FACTOR IN COMING WORK

"Work on the new Wampum-Chewton viaduct over the Beaver river and tracks of the Pittsburgh and Lake Erie and Baltimore and Ohio railroads, is progressing, and it is hoped that the span will be ready for opening by December 1," said engineer C. H. Milholland this morning. He declared that work on the project is not going along as fast as might be desired.

Painters are engaged in coloring up the steel spans at the present time, while other workmen are busy pouring the concrete.

"The weather now," Milholland stated, "will have a great deal to do with the progress during the next few weeks. It may affect the work somewhat."

The new bridge has been in the course of construction for some time, and will, when completed, connect the town of Wampum with the present Ellwood City road across the river. Two dangerous grade crossings will be eliminated by the new viaduct.

Shenango Pottery Starts Operation

Plant Goes On Eight Hour Day Basis Says President Smith

Announcement was made today by James M. Smith, president of the Shenango Pottery company that the plant had been placed on the eight hour day basis, superceding the old nine hour day basis upon which it has worked. Employes will be paid the same for eight hours as they have received for nine hours.

The plant started operations this morning with enough employes to operate part of the machinery, according to Mr. Smith. While not enough men and women returned to operate the plant in full, Mr. Smith stated that there were more employes on the job than they had expected.

Name Omitted From Advance Givers List

Because of some oversight, the name of Mrs. Fred L. Rentz was omitted from the list of the advance givers to the New Castle Community Chest, states Herbert Pearis, director of the chest drive this year.

Mr. Pearis states that Mrs. Rentz has not only pledged herself to support the chest, but that she covered her subscription with cash.

Pears Declares Community Chest Survey Success

Resulted In Charity Clearing House, Says Campaign Director

ALL CHARITY WORK IN UNDER ONE HEAD

Is A Step Forward; Is Ultimate Goal Of All Charity Agencies

"One suggestion above all others that was carried through the survey of the social service and welfare organizations in New Castle a year ago was the necessity of centralizing the work of charity under one roof and under a management which coordinates the demands upon all agencies," declares Herbert Pears, this year directing the chest campaign, who goes on to add that this is an accomplished fact now, and the Social Service Exchange is functioning in New Castle and daily is becoming more efficient.

"It is the object of the Social Service Exchange, known as the Community Chest Round Table Discussion Group, to centralize all charity under one institution," Mr. Pears adds. "This central organization is made up of representatives of all the organizations in the city which dispense charity or do welfare work. In this way the duplication of effort is eliminated, overlapping of service is reduced to a minimum, and the entire structure built up for the care of humanity can function properly, getting a 100 per cent benefit in return for the money so used."

The Social Service Exchange at present is centered at the headquarters of the Associated Charities and is being used as a clearing house for all organized charitable work in the city. Round table meetings are held each week, and all the cases in the city are considered, the proper relief and aid being given. This is the sort of center that New Castle and every other city needs. It is the direct outgrowth of the efforts of the Community Chest and means, when all agencies are functioning properly, the absolute and certain care for the distressed in the city."

Besides the agencies in the Community Chest the county poor director has been cooperating with the Social Service Exchange, and it is considered just a question of time until all efforts, whether private or institutional, will be coordinated for the public good. This means, says Mr. Pears, besides a saving in money and effort, more efficient service, and best of all, it assures that every needy individual will be properly cared for.

"New Castle has taken a step forward in establishing the Social Service Exchange. It is a step which should be approved by the people of our city, and they do approve it," Mr. Pears concludes. "It is organized effort through the Community Chest and is the ultimate goal that all charitable and welfare agencies should strive for."

Girl Scouts Have Week-End Party

Forty Are Present At Girl Scout Week-End Party At East Brook

A Hallowe'en week-end party at Camp East Brook, the Y. W. C. A. summer camp, proved to be a most enjoyable event. The party was held by the Girl Scouts of the city. Forty were present. Saturday morning the girls hiked to camp. Leaders in camp were Misses Pauline Gilkey, Elizabeth Vance, Frances Haydon, Mrs. W. H. Hanger, Miss Elizabeth Reis, Girl Scout commissioner, and Miss Mae Pugh, local director of Girl Scouts.

Saturday afternoon the hours were spent in games, folk dances and learning new songs.

Saturday evening a masquerade party was the feature. There were many clever costumes. Two costume prizes were awarded. Miss Evelyn Raney winning the prize for the best dressed and Miss Catherine Taylor the prize for the funniest costume. A most enjoyable evening was had by all present.

Sunday morning following breakfast there was a "Scouts Own" or vesper service. The girls returned home after dinner. The week-end party was a success and a good time was had by all attending.

Girl Reserve Party This Evening At Camp East Brook

The Girl Reserves of senior high school are having a masquerade Hallowe'en party this evening at the Y. W. C. A. camp, Camp East Brook. The party begins at 8 p. m.

Girls not having any way of reaching the camp are to be at the Y. W. by 7:30 and transportation will be furnished them. A good time is anticipated.

GIRL SCOUTS

ORGANIZING NEW TROOP

A new Girl Scout troop is to be organized this evening at the Highland U. P. church. The meeting for organization is at 7:30. Miss Elizabeth Parker is in charge.

Lady Says She Became Deathly Sick After Meal

Tells How Famous Ten Herbs Ended Indigestion And Other Ailments.

"I think Ten Herbs is the best of medicines," was the recent statement of Mrs. Louise Bates, 816 Lorenz Avenue, Elliott, Pa., (near Pittsburgh), according to the Ten Herbs Man, who is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30

MRS. LOUISE BATES

East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily demonstrating this popular preparation. "Your medicine gave me relief from suffering that I had endured for several years", Mrs. Bates continued.

"I frequently had attacks of indigestion. Often after a meal I became deathly sick and could hardly retain my food, which would sour and ferment. This fermentation formed gas, which would work up around my heart and cause it to palpitate until I would become very weak and on the verge of fainting. Constipation troubled me. I was bilious and had terrible headaches. At times my complexion was very sallow. I was drowsy during the day, but could not sleep when night came. Nervousness made me irritable, and there were shooting pains all over my body, especially in my back and shoulders—sometimes I could not raise my arms above my head.

"Nothing gave me more than temporary relief, until I tried Ten Herbs, which helped me right from the start. I feel better now than I have for several years. My appetite has improved, and I do not suffer with indigestion any more. I am free of gas and heart palpitation, and food does me more good. Constipation has been relieved, and biliousness and terrible headaches are things of the past. Pains are gone from my back and shoulders, and I am no longer nervous or irritable. I sleep better, and friends say I act and look years younger. I gladly endorse Ten Herbs to other sufferers."

The Ten Herbs Man is at Eckerd's of New Castle, Inc., 30 East Washington Street, New Castle, where he is daily meeting the public and explaining the merits of this medicine.

Revival Concludes At M. E. Church At East Brook

Dr. H. H. Marlin Of East Brook Delivered The Closing Message Sunday Evening

The final service of the special series of evangelistic services being conducted at the East Brook M. E. church was held last night. A good crowd gathered to unite in the worship hour. Mr. David Rees led the congregation in a good song service which was full of inspiration. The opening prayer was made by Rev. J. Walker St. Clair, pastor of the East Brook U. P. church.

David Rees rendered a vocal solo, entitled, "The Love of Jesus." A vocal duet was also rendered by Rev. and Mrs. J. L. Petrie, entitled, "Let Him In."

Dr. H. H. Marlin brought the message of the evening, his theme being, "Put Ye First the Kingdom of God." He dealth with the so called love, joy and peace of today being unreal and unlasting, setting for the truth that real love, joy and pease is to be had by the soul that allows God to enter the heart and life.

Much interest has been exemplified in the special series of services and the congregation and friends have been blessed in the singing and also by the gospel messages during the past two weeks.

Roaming Round With Richards

Some News, Some Views, But Mostly Just Observations Of Interesting Things Around New Castle

Tales of heroism always thrilled me. Whether the heroism concerned love or glory or both, it always got a reaction. Leander was quite a lad in my estimation for swimming the Hellespont. It was for love, you recall, and while Leander died, it was still quite a stunt.

Horatio was another lad who always had my admiration. After reading his tale of holding the bridge I spent three weeks looking for a bridge to defend, but the Mill street bridge always was a drab looking structure. Napoleon, Wellington, Cromwell or John L. Sullivan, all of them had their thrill for me, and the boyhood love of thrills still sticks.

All of which accounts for the thrill at Washington, Pa., Saturday. The whole game deserves a rhapsody, but one series of plays stand out for me in letters of gold. Only a Homer or a Shelley could do it justice, and perhaps it illy behooves me to attempt it.

Without wasting too many adjectives let's get down to the basic facts. A Washington player got away with a forward pass. Like a will-o-the-wisp he flitted through the team, on and on past the chalkmarks, and it seemed certain that he would go over the goal line.

Somehow DiCarbo got close enough to him to dive, and in a dive of desperation, a dive that seemed futile, he brought the runner down. From the press box it looked as though the runner was over, and I still think his feet went over, but the ball was grounded inches away. Don't let anyone tell you it was on the one-yard line. It looked to be more like eight inches, and right there New Castle looked to be in for a trouncing.

Enters now the heroics of the game, of the season, if you will. One down and the runner fumbled. Another down and the ball was held. Still another and the ball had not moved. Three thousand New Castle hearts were skipping their beats, six thousand hands were beating nervously through the air.

A signal, 22 men have at each other, a whistle and the pile is opened up and the ball was still six inches away from the goal line. Sing of your Persian defenders, of your battles of Marathon or Trafalga. Tell me of gallant stands by a thin red line of heroes and then I'll tell one. I'll tell you of the stand at Washington when 11 New Castle football players performed the impossible, stopped a berserk team from going over and showed the crowd some football that equals that eventful day at Harrisburg when New Castle held on the three-yard line.

The road record liars are now invited to tell you of their time going over. The car I was in didn't do so well, just two hours and 10 minutes for the 82.5 miles, but Tom Edmonds, the driver, said that the engine was carboned up.

Mark this down also if you will. Washington was courteous to the New Castle visitors and the explanation made by Guy Day of the Washington Reporter was this: "New Castle gave us such a wonderful reception last year that we owed them something in return."

Coming back was dismal. The road was wet, the windshield was wet, and driving was an experience.

But it was a great day. New Castle didn't win, but, customers, don't let anyone tell you they didn't play football.

In some quarters the silent vote is becoming the coercive vote. In a nearby New Jersey surburb a man who had given hints that he might vote for Smith came home the other evening hungry as a bear and began yelling for his chow. His wife, a strong Hoover supporter, said it wasn't ready, and it wouldn't be until he declared himself definitely. "Are you," she asked, "going to eat with Hoover, or drink with Smith?"

Trouble is important just in proportion as it becomes acutely personal. One man may worry as much about his dandruff as another does about his debts.
